Says Steel Hikes Due To Wages

WASHINGTON (UP) — Roger M. Blough, chairman of U.S. Steel estimated today that 80 per cent of the company's total increased costs in recent wage increases went to the United Steelworkers (AFL-CIO).

Blough and Robert C. Tyson, chairman of the company's finance committee, gave the tentative estimate after almost an hour of wrangling with Chairman Estes Kefauver (D-Tenn.) of the Senate Anti-Trust and Monopoly subcommittee. The group has been investigating U S. Steel's July 1 $6 a ton price increase, which Blough and Tyson blamed on increased labor costs.

The company officials said it was impossible to tell exactly ho much of the increase was attributable to the new contract, also effective July 1, with the Steelworkers Union because the company doesn't keep books that way.

However, they emphasized that any wage increase to the steelworkers Union automatically leads to similar raises for the company's workers under other contracts and salaried non - union employes.

Kefauver insisted on an estimate of the total cost increase going directly to the steelworkers. He said earlier statements by Blough "gave the impression" that the steelworkers' contract was the sole cause of the $6 a ton price hike. Blough said the latter increase represented about four per cent in price.

Use Realistic Basis

"If you increase one segment of your employment cost, you increase other segments," Blough said. "We try to conduct our business on the basis of realism and we take a look at the total cost effect and not just a partial aspect of it."

In deciding on a price increase, Blough said, the company must consider many factors. First, and of "prime importance," he said, is "what is happening to our costs."

Blough said "we knew that employment costs were going up about six per cent and knew that total costs would go up about six and one-half per cent, and on the basis of that we increased prices about four per cent."

Second, he said, is the "competitive situation," which he described as a "never ending situa-

Canadian Air Front to End Heat in District

A mass of cool Canadian air was expected to move across Pennsylvania today, dropping the temperature into the 50's.

The cold front reached the northern part of the state this morning. It was expected to move into the district late this afternoon.

High temperatures today will range in the upper 80's. They are supposed to tumble sharply when the Canadian air arrives.

With the cooler weather will come scattered showers and a few thunder storms.

Clearing and colder weather is expected tonight.

For the most part, the weekend was hot and humid. The mercury ranged in the mid-90's on both Saturday and Sunday afternoons.

Showers fell in some parts of the district, but they did little to affect the heat.

Are You Willing To Pay for TV?

Are you ready to put out money to see television?

How much are you willing to spend on a really top class show?

There are people with millions at stake who are betting that the next big change in our electronic miracle will be pay-as-you-go television.

United Press television writer William Ewald has just completed a series on this interesting topic. The first of five dispatches appears today in the Daily Independent on page 8.

DEFIES WARNING — Olympic gold medal hurdler Lee Calhoun and his bride, Gwendolyn Bannister, cut their wedding cake in New York after they were married on a television show. Calhoun, 23, defied an A.A.U. warning that by accepting $2,500 in prizes and gifts plus traveler's checks and plane tickets he would lose his amateur standing.

Swearing-in of Weiss as Judge Set for Friday

Attorney David H. Weiss, of Monessen, will be sworn in Friday morning at 11 o'clock as judge of Westmoreland County Common Pleas Court. The ceremony will take place at the courtouse in Greensburg.

Weiss, an assistant district attorney, will serve until next January in a vacancy created by the death of Judge George H. McWherter last April.

The swearing in ceremonies will be held in the courtroom of President Judge Richard D. Laird with Judge John M. O'Connell administering the oath of office.

Assistant D.A. Earl S. Keim will read the commission of Gov. George M. Leader and Weiss will accept the robe of office from his daughter, Y. Rochelle, 16, a senior at Monessen High School.

Weiss, it was learned, had hoped that the commission could be read by Mayor Hugo J. Parente, a close personal and political friend. Parente, however, is vacationing in California and is not expected home until next week.

Friends of Weiss are planning to have a motorcade from Monessen to Greensburg on Friday morning.

Weiss was named to the bench vacancy last Wednesday by the governor after the county Democratic Executive Committee selected him as the third Democratic candidate for a full 10-year judicial term in the general election this November.

In one of his first official acts, Weiss appointed Mrs. Justine McGovern of Monessen as his secretary.

Mrs. McGovern has been associated with Weiss for many years, serving as his private secretary at the law firm of Weiss & Shire. She will work in Weiss' chambers in Greensburg.

Weiss will be located in McWherter's former chambers.

Spot 2nd Mountain Climber

GRINDELWALD, Switzerland (UP) — Alpine rescuers today spotted the second of four stranded mountain climbers entangled in his ropes and hanging head down on the sheer, icy north wall of 13,038-foot Mount Eiger.

"It appears that he died during the night," the rescue teams from five countries reported. "The storm must have been too much for his exhausted body."

The man spotted today was Stefano Longhi, a 44-year-old Italian, the second of the four climbers accounted for. One man was hauled to safety Sunday in a daring rescue. Two others were missing and feared dead.

Longhi had been clinging precariously to a tiny ledge, 1,200 feet below the summit of the mountain, dangling from two ropes. He was reported injured earlier and the latest storm appeared to be too much for him.

German Alpinist Alfred Hellpart made a daring descent from the top of the mountain Sunday and rescued Claudio Corti, 29, of Lecco, Italy. Corti was so weak Hellpart had to lash him to his back.

Another Blizzard

But another blizzard set in during the afternoon and it was impossible to make another descent after Longhi, the oldest of the four stranded men.

The blizzard was so severe a rescue column taking Corti to safety had to spend the night at the Eiger Glacier Station before resuming the descent to the Interlaken hospital. Corti was suffering from exhaustion and head and hand injuries.

Rescue crews said the only hope for the two Germans, Franz Meier, 21, and Guenther Hotdurgt, 22, was that they had succeeded in climbing further up the moun-

Firemen Plan Street Fair Here

A street fair and carnival will be sponsored by the Monessen Volunteer Fire Department Aug. 26-31, Fire Chief W. Roy McShaffrey annnounced today.

Highlight of the affair will be a parade on Thursday, Aug. 29. McShaffrey said that invitations have been sent to scores of fire departments asking them to participate. Many have already accepted.

Drum and bugle corps units in the district also have been invited.

Stephen Gaydos is chairman of the affair.

Donora Plant Begins Vacation

The Donora plant of the American Steel & Wire Co., with the exception of one blast furnace, closed yesterday for a two week vacation.

Only a small crew of maintenance men reported for work today to keep the plant in operating condition.

The vacation lull did not affect the Donora Zinc Works where operations will conclude around Nov. 1.

McDonald Denies Any Fraud in USW Funds

PITTSBURGH (UP) — David J. McDonald has informed the Senate Rackets Committee that to the best of his knowledge no union funds were spent to win his re-election as president of the 1,250,000-member United Steelworkers.

Nor, he said, did he use any of his own funds.

McDonald's statements were in a letter sent during the weekend to Robert F. Kennedy, committee chief counsel. Kennedy had written McDonald to inform him concerning charges "substantial" funds from the USW treasury had been used improperly in his behalf.

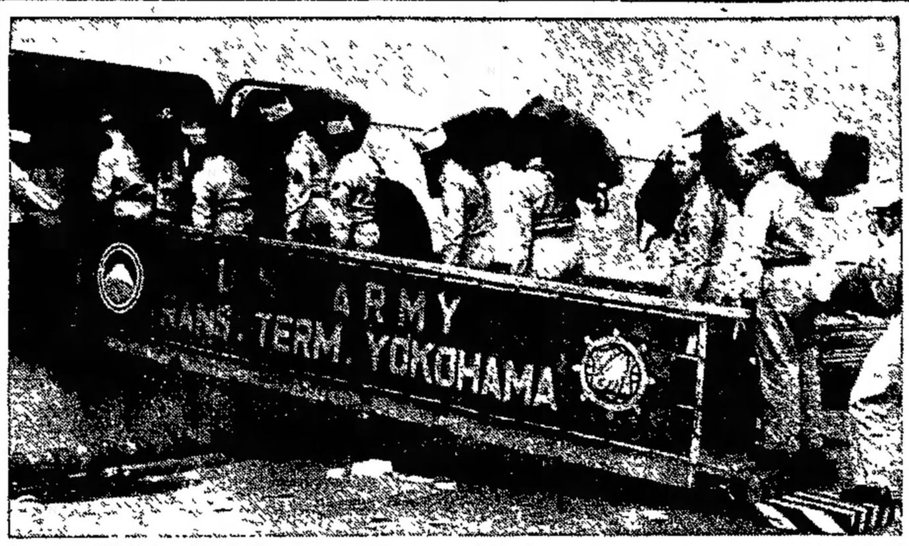
McDonald denied the charges and said independent audits of the USW books proved no union money was used in his behalf.

He said a committee headed by USW international representative John Doherty of Chicago solicited individual contributions from his supporters within the union. He said these funds were the exclusive source of any expenditures for his campaign and were spent for the "usual type of campaign literature, material and activities."

McDonald defeated Donald C. Rarick, a McKeesport, Pa., millhand, in last February's USW election by a vote of 404,172 to 223,516. Rarick, a leader of an insurgent group protesting an increase in steelworkers' dues, has charged irregularities and fraud. He has never conceded the election.

Last week a former steelworker, George E. Crosby 38, Pittsburgh, alleged in a notarized statement he was paid $10 to stuff the ballot box at the Jones & Laughlin Steel Corp. plant in Hazelwood.

Officials of the local at the plant said Crosby's allegation was "ridiculous" and pointed out the local's vote was overwhelming for Rarick.



END OF AN ERA—American Army personnel board the transport General Andersen which is about to sail from Japan with 1,512 passengers, including airmen, sailors, dependents and other departing personnel. More than 1,000 servicemen, many of them from the First Cavalry Division and the Ninth Marine Regiment have already sailed from Japan as America's troop pull-out from Japan neared high gear. Their departure marked the beginning of the end of a dozen colorful years of the U. S. occupation in Japan. Approximately 30,000 troops are scheduled to be withdrawn from Japan by Christmas.

Ex-convict Kills Nephew In Scuffle for Revolver

An ex-convict living in the nearby community of California, Orville Kittle, 35, today faces arraignment on a murder charge after a fantastic series of incidents over the weekend.

Kittle, it is charged, killed his nephew, Wayne Lasko, 26, of Cleveland, Ohio, who tried to disarm him after Kittle wrested a gun from Speers Police Chief Charles (Red) Hazlett, a former Monessen policeman.

The nephew was shot in the heart with a .38 caliber revolver Saturday night. Death was instant.

The victim's 18-year-old wife, Patricia, who expects a child next month, witnessed the shooting and was taken to Brownsville Hospital for treatment of shock.

Hazlett, after his gun was snatched by Kittle, stood by helplessly as the ex-convict grappled with his nephew.

Hazlett said the chain of incidents started when he and Sherman Ziskind, owner of Holly Inn at Speers, wanted to question Kittle about a recent robbery at the inn.

The officer and Ziskind found Kittle at the home of Lasko's mother, Mrs. Steve Barnett, on Route 88 between California and West Brownsville.

Argument Follows

An argument followed in the front yard and Kittle seized Hazlett's gun from his holster.

The chief said Kittle "grabbed at Ziskind, and while they were grappling I stepped in. Kittle grabbed my gun and jammed it in my ribs. When I tried to get it back, he cocked it and told me to stay away."

Lasko then stepped in and tried

Bank of France Raises Rates

PARIS (UP) — The Bank of France raised the discount rate from four to five per cent today in this nation's latest move to halt inflation.

Following immediately on the heels of the devaluation of the franc which went into effect Sunday the discount rate was raised to make credit and money more costly.

The action was designed to reduce inflationary pressure by decreasing the amount of money available for investments.

The tax on advances for bonds was raised to seven per cent.

The Paris Bourse reacted well to the sudden weekend financial changes. The money market was steady, and gold prices dropped slightly in early trading.

American Youths Go to Leningrad

MOSCOW (UP)—Twenty - five American participants in the international youth festival leave here today for a one-day visit to Leningrad before returning to the West

The festival ended Sunday night with ceremonies witnessed by some 100,000 spectators in Lenin Stadium. More than 40 Americans remained here to take part this week in a junket to Communist China.

Milton Eisenhower Plans Series of Addresses on TV

WASHINGTON (UP)—Dr. Milton Eisenhower plans to make a series of television addresses "to give the American people the same insight into Mexican affairs" he got during a week-long good will visit to Mexico.

Eisenhower, who had been sent to Mexico by his brother, President Eisenhower, said he had learned a great deal about the economic, social, cultural and political problems of the country.

Eisenhower arrived Sunday from Acapulco. He told reporters who met him at the airport that his mission promoted further understanding of mutual problems between Mexico and the United States.

While in Mexico, Eisenhower conferred with his host, President Adolfo Ruiz Cortinas, and other high Mexican officials.

Eisenhower called the two countries "equal partners in the councils of the world."

"No problem can arise, which as good partners, we cannot solve," he said.

Eisenhower expressed confidence that the Inter-American Economic Conference which opens Thursday in Buenos Aires, Argentina, will help solve some of the critical economic problems facing the Western Hemisphere.

Eisenhower's daughter, Ruth, who accompanied him to Mexico, said it was "a wonderful and rewarding trip."

Ruth and her father later went to visit her uncle at the White House where they were overnight guests.

Station WJAS Is Sold for $720,000

PITTSBURGH (UP)—Radio Station WJAS has been sold by Radio Supply House to the National Broadcasting Co. for $720,000, it was announced Sunday.

The transaction is subject to Federal Communications Commission approval.

Sale of WJAS will permit its owners to exercise their option to purchase a half interest in television station WIIC, due to start operation on Channel 11 here Sept. 1.

Ring Robbed Boarding Bus

PITTSBURGH (UP)—Louise Haney, of Camden, N.J., was robbed of $82 and a diamond ring Sunday as she boarded a Greyhound bus.

She told police she was pushed while boarding and didn't notice her wallet and the ring missing from her purse until she was seated.

Relatives here gave her money and she started home again—by plane.

State Business Shows Slight Decline in June

UNIVERSITY PARK, Pa. (UP) —General business in Pennsylvania in June was lower than in the preceding month but still higher than in June of any previous year

The Bureau of Business Research at Pennsylvania State University said business declined 7 per cent from May but was 2 per cent higher than June, 1956, to reach a new high for the month.

Consumer prices and retail food costs continued their upward trend. The cost of living increased ½ per cent from May to June.

Gains were made in factory payrolls, industrial power sales, department store sales, telephones, life insurance sales and building contracts. The highest rates since 1953 were noted for anthracite and bituminous coal production.

Motor vehicles sales were the lowest since 1952. Building permits also were the lowest in years. Car loadings and Pittsburgh steel production were the smallest since 1954. Other fields showing declines included eastern district steel production, crude petroleum output, factory hours, street railway traffic and postal receipts.

Unemployment was up nearly 3 per cent from a year ago.

The Easton area showed no change in general business from May to June, but all other areas showed a loss.

Guardian Angel

JERUSALEM, Israel (UP) — A prison guard was suspended from duty Sunday for refusing to shoot at five escaping convicts. A board of inquiry ordered the suspension after the guard testified, "I was afraid I'd hurt them." Two of the prisoners, one considered dangerous, still are at large.

Post War Party Of Canadian Vets Ends in Tragedy

QUEBEC CITY —(UP)—A happy post-war reunion with relatives in Britain turned into tragedy for a group of World War II veterans and their families Sunday when a chartered airliner crashed and apparently exploded in a desolate swamp, killing all 79 persons aboard.

The disaster was the worst in Canadian aviation history and one of the world's worst.

The Maritimes Central Airways DC4, chartered by the Imperial Division of the Canadian Legion in Toronto, burst into flames on impact and dug a deep crater in the marshland. Bodies of the 73 passengers and six crewmembers were torn limb from limb in the ensuing blast. Identification was expected to be almost impossible.

Last rites were conducted at the scene of the tragedy by Rev. Alexandre DeBlois, rector of the Parish of Ste. Croix.

The passengers were British war veterans or members of their families who had settled in Canada after World War II. They had chartered the plane to visit their former homes in the United Kingdom.

Weather Not Certain

The doomed airliner's pilot gave no indication that it was in trouble. Last radio contact was made over Quebec City when its captain, Norman Ramsay, 34, of Montreal, reported that everything was normal and the weather clear. Previously the weather had reported scattered thunderstorms in the area.

Several persons saw the aircraft as it flew overhead. They said it was "limping" and "making a horrible noise." On impact it exploded, "making a noise like an earthquake or thunder clap."

Ramsay was suspended for six months when he crash landed a Trans-Canada Airlines Super Constellation near Brampton, Ont., on Dec 17, 1954. A board of inquiry charged him with "lack of alertness," although the Pilots' Assn. protested he had suffered from fatigue. He had been flying for MCA since late 1955 after resigning from TCA.

J.P. Fournier, district supervisor of air regulations for the Department of Transport, arrived at the scene late Sunday night. And said it was "too soon to ascertain definitely" the cause of the crash, but "it appeared that it exploded on impact."

Probers Continue Work

Fournier was accompanied by another DOT official. They were returning to the crash scene this morning to conduct an investigation.

The area was roped off and six Royal Canadian Mounted Police constables in scarlet tunics stood guard. Fragments of twisted metal and a water filled crater were all that remained of the red, white and silver plane. None of the pieces were more than two feet long. Rescuers waded through mud up to their knees to recover baggage from the marsh, which

Quit Producing Model of Crashed Plane in 1946

SANTA MONICA, Calif. (UP)—The plane which crashed in Canada killing all 79 persons aboard has been out of production since 1946.

A Douglas aircraft spokesman said the DC4, called the C54 by the Army Air Force during World War II, made its first flight in 1942. The company said 1,089 of the models were built during the war and 74 were sold as commercial versions before production was abandoned for a later model, the DC6.

The plane originally was designed to carry 42 passengers and 5,138 pounds of cargo.

The DC4 was in production for several airlines when the war broke out and plans were revised to make the four motored plane into an aerial troop transport. The DC4 and the earlier DC were the back bone of military air transportation during World War II.

The company said many DC4s which survived the war were sold as surplus by the government to airlines. The firm's records show that in 1955 366 DC4's were in commercial operation.

Will Open Bids On Perry's Gift School Aug. 27

Bids on the new Mary Full Frazier Junior-Senior High School in Perryopolis will be opened Aug. 27.

The project is one of several made possible by a $1,500,000 bequest left to the Fayette County community by Mrs. Frazier, a former resident.

The estate will contribute $250,000 toward the new school building, which will cost an estimated million dollars.

Projects falling under this bequest have been a street lighting system, already completed, and a sewage disposal system, which may be in operation next month.

Borough officials will meet soon with the Municipal Sewage and Water Authority to make plans to tie in existing sewer lines with the new system.

The estate, through the Fidelity-Philadelphia Trust Co., has contributed about $400,000 to the sewer project to date.

The balance of the cost, as well as that of extending some 19,000 feet of water lines, will be covered by a bond issue.

Four Persons Hurt in Weekend Accidents

Three separate motor accidents over the weekend resulted in injuries to four persons, two of them from Monessen.

A Coal Center man, Randall Leyda, 32, is in "critical" condition in Charleroi-Monessen Hospital today with injuries suffered when his motorcycle slammed into the rear of a car at the Twilight cutoff on the Express Highway about 10 o'clock last night.

Leyda received a possible skull fracture, broken right leg and multiple bruises about the face, body and legs.

Police Chief Jack Stonfer, of Twilight, said Leyda was traveling east on the highway when the motorcycle crashed into the rear of a car driven by Thomas Zumpetta, 26, of Bentleyville. Zumpetta was attempting to make a turn off the road when the accident happened.

The impact of the crash ripped off the rear bumper and shoved it to the front dashboard.

Zumpetta miraculously escaped injury, Stonfer said.

The chief said that witnesses told him the motorcycle was traveling "between 80 and 100 miles per hour" at the time of the crash.

Two Monessen men were injured in a mishap in Smithdale near West Newton late yesterday morning. Taken to Charleroi-Monessen Hospital were John Stepoli, 22, of 1057 Morgan Ave., and Allan Soderholm, 21, of 1040 Morgan Ave.

Stepoli suffered possible fractures of the ribs and bruises. Soderholm received head and chest injuries. Both were reported in "good" condition today.

In the third accident, Clarence Massey, 25, of 733 Ellen St., Mongahela, received an injury to his left eye. The wreck occurred about 5 o'clock this morning on the Monessen-Webster Road, Route 906.

State police said they had no report of the mishap.

Boys Nabbed in Police Car Theft

PITTSBURGH (UP)—Two fugitives from a boys' reformatory did everything wrong Sunday.

They attempted to steal a police car—right in front of Central Police Station only seconds after two detectives had gotten out of it.

Detectives J. Kieran Jennings and Tony DiMaria heard the car door slam as they were in the lobby of the station house, ran outside and collared the two teenagers.

The boys were sent back to the Industrial School for Boys in Oakdale.

Burglars Break Into Donora Cafe

Burglars netted only a small amount of loot after breaking into the Silver Star Cafe at 152 McKean Ave. in Donora over the weekend, Donora police reported today.

The burglars jimmied a rear window to gain entrance. They took some small change from a cupboard in the bar.

$200,000 Diamond Robbery

Gems Are Taken at Gunpoint

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (UP)—Police questioned hotel employes and a diamond merchant for hours today about a robbery of an estimated $200,000 worth of cut diamonds in a hotel bedroom holdup.

Jacob Davis, 49, treasurer of the Barnett Davis Jewelry Co. of Pittsburgh, said two men Sunday night grabbed him at gunpoint, bound him with his own neckties and fled with the gems in a manila envelope.

Davis, of 1925 Wightman St., Pittsburgh, told police during the more than eight hours of questioning that the men grabbed him as he started to leave his eight-floor room in a downtown hotel at about 7 p.m.

They worked so smoothly that he never got a glimpse of one of the men while they bound his hands and feet, shoved him into a narrow space between twin beds and disappeared, Davis said.

The man he did see, one holding a "blue steel" pistol, was middle-aged, about 5-feet-7, weighing 180 pounds and dressed conservatively in a gray suit and gray hat, Davis said.

Find No Trace

Detectives said they could find no trace of the bandit nor any indication of whether they used an elevator or fire escape in their flight.

Davis said he had placed two wallets containing the gems which he valued at about $100,000 wholesale into a single manila envelope which he was about to deposit in the hotel safe when the robbery occurred.

Davis said he had gone directly to his room to take a nap after arriving by plane from Atlanta early in the afternoon without stopping to deposit the gems because he suffered from heart trouble.

The diamond salesman, bespectacled and standing 5-feet-11, said he was similarly held up and robbed six years ago in Nashville, Tenn. He said two men were caught and convicted.

The gems stolen Sunday night, as in the Nashville robbery, were fully insured, he said.

BABY SATELLITE IN RIGID TESTS—A 6.4-inch satellite is prepared to face vibration tests up to 25 times the pull of gravity at the Naval Research Laboratories in Washington by Wayne Taylor. Rectangular objects on the surface house solar batteries. A similar unit will be test fired off the Florida coast, but Navy officials say it is highly unlikely that an orbit will be achieved by the baby satellite.

tion, and one to which we give continuing attention."

A third factor, Blough said, is depreciation.

Blough, who has been sparring with Kefauver for four days, took a verbal poke at the hulking Tennesseean's presidential ambitions when he said "we attempt to market steel on a long-range basis." He said it was "just as one of you gentlemen may take into account today what you may be doing in 1960."

Blough said "expediency has no part in our thinking so far as marketing is concerned."

Kefauver ignored the remark but Sen. Alexander Wiley (R-Wis.) laughed loudly.

Blough said that in considering the latest price increase, steel officials "also knew that if prices aren't changed, profits would be quickly wiped out."

He said Dr. Jules Backman, an economist hired by the company to study its operations, estimated that if the company followed the United Steelworkers' suggestion that prices be raised only to the extent of union wage increases, "the effect would be that the industry would be two billion dollars in the red at this time."

Low Down Trick

Is Princess Grace Expecting Again?

PARIS (UP) — Princess Grace of Monaco recently purchased "one or two maternity dresses," a spokesman for the Paris fashion house of Lanvin said today.

The announcement gave new strength to persistent rumors denied by Prince Rainier and palace officials — that the princess is expecting again.

The dresses were designed by Castillo of Lanvin, who has been making dresses for Princes Grace ever since her marriage to Prince Rainier last year.

The Lanvin spokesman said details of the designs were unavailable "for the moment." He added that the house was constanly adding to Princess Grace's wardrobe.

In Monaco, palace officials said they knew "absolutely nothing" of the new maternity wardrobe.

Princess Grace and Prince Rainier are vacationing near Gstaad, Switzerland, with their six-month-old daughter, Princess Caroline.

Denies Rumors

Shortly before leaving Monaco for Switzerland early in July, Prince Rainier formally and strongly denied rumors that a little sister or brother for Princess Caroline would arrive before the year was out.

The rumors were set rolling by reports that Prince Rainier had ordered destroyed pictures taken of his wife during a visit late in June to the U.S. aircraft carrier Forrestal — pictures that tended to make her look pregnant.

But during the early months of Princess Grace's first pregnancy, Prince Rainier doggedly denied that she was expecting then.

He announced finally on Aug. 2, 1956, that Grace would have a child. Princess Caroline was born Jan. 23.

Kittle also fired at California Police Chief Robert Elliott, who had been cruising in the area and heard the shot that killed Lasko.

Elliott drove to the scene, sized up the situation, leaped from the car and took a quick shot at the 200-pound gunman.

Kittle then leaped into Elliott's police car and sped away.

He was captured by state police at a roadblock between Crucible and Rices Landing in Greene County.

Kittle was paroled in February from Mounsville, W. Va., state prison, where he served time for burglary and resisting arrest.

Persian Rebels Retreat

By JOE MORRIS

BAHREIN, Persian Gulf (UP)—Troops of the Sultan of Muscat and Oman drove northwestward today from captured Nizwa in pursuit of rebel forces who surrendered their headquarters without a fight.

The stronghold of Nizwa, some 80 miles inland from the capital of Muscat, fell to British and Muscat troops who had broken the back of the resistance in a skirmish at Firq.

In Cairo Sheikh Mohammed El-Harithy, representative of the rebel Imam, predicted continuous guerrilla warfare in the mountains. He said the war would continue despite the fall of Nizwa.

The Arab League political committee called a meeting in Cairo today to take action on a proposal to raise the Oman issue before the United Nations Security Council. Some Arab states have accused Britain of "aggression" in heeding the Sultan's appeal for aid.

Reports from the front said the rebel leaders fled their capital and were racing toward Jebel Akhdar (Green Mountain) and Tanui, headquarters of the dissident Sheikh Suleiman Bin Himyar. They were reported at Birkat Al Mauz, a village 10 miles to the west.

Leader Disapproves

There was no trace at Nizwa of the rebel leader, the Imam of Oman, Galib Bin Ali. His brother, Talib, believed to be the Imam's military leader, also was missing.

Front dispatches said the battle for Firq was not yet over because some rebels were still fighting from caves and would have to be dug out one at a time. The rebels were reported also to be holding a roadblock in the area.

The sultan's forces found 40 soldiers of the Oman regiment and an Indian medical officer held prisoner in South Nizwa. They were captured when the Imam's rebel forces ejected loyal troops at the start of the revolt three weeks ago.

is surrounded on all sides by dense woodland.

Rain had just started to fall when the big plane droned overhead. Many residents of the area were in church when they heard the explosion. One of the first persons at the scene was Andre LeClere, 22, who said, "We heard something like an earthquake, a big blast. At first we thought it was thunder because it had just started to rain."

Alphonse Charest, a farmer on whose property the crash occurred, said he saw the plane "flying very low." He said his daughter, Denise, was sleeping, "when she woke up thinking it was an earthquake."

Ocean Crossing Uneventful

The plane had left London Saturday night, where the veterans had attended veterans' ceremonies. After an uneventful crossing of the Atlantic it stopped at Keflavik, Iceland, for fuel.

It crashed 175 miles west of Montreal where it was to have refueled before continuing on to Toronto.

The plane was last sighted over Quebec City at 2:07 p.m., and it was due in Montreal 53 minutes later. Search planes were dispatched when it was two hours overdue.

A plane belonging to Nordair, an affiliate of MCA, spotted the wreckage directly on the plane's scheduled route.

Three airmen from Trenton, Ont., who jumped into the area reported: "There are no survivors."

Desperate Attempt

They vanished after being seen with Corti in an improvided camp on another ledge near a rock formation called the Spreder, 600 feet from the summit. Corti said they left him on Saturday in a desperate attempt to reach the summit on their own.

Hellpart said he heard voices as he was being lowered down the mountain side Sunday, but hundreds of persons scanning the icy cliff from below with binoculars and telescopes could find no trace of the two men before a blizzard blotted out its face.

The snowstorm also prevented the scheduled attempt to save Longhi by the same method that had been applied for Corti—lowering a man down from the summit on a steel rope to take the victim up on his back.

500,000 Shots of Flu Vaccine Are Available

WASHINGTON (UP)—U.S. Surgeon General Leroy E. Burney said today 500,000 shots of Asiatic flu vaccine will be made available to the public today or Tuesday.

He told the United Press a large amount of the first big batch released will be shipped to the West Coast where the oriental virus first cropped up in the United States after spreading through the Far East. Some also will be sent to the East Coast which also has reported outbreaks of the new-type flu.

Burney said the vaccine will be released by the National Drug Co., a Pennsylvania firm, and will be made available to general practitioners — in other words family doctors.

He said the national drug vaccine has been proven safe in laboratory tests at the National Institute of Health an arm of the Public Health Service. It is the only batch received from private drug firms for testing, so far, he said.

United Press White House reporter Merriman Smith reported today that shots of the new vaccine have been available for weeks to key figures of the Eisenhower administration including cabinet members.

Burney said he was unaware the vaccine had been made available "to any federal official." He said the only federal workers to whom he knew the vaccine had been administered were 160 employes of the communicable disease section of the Public Health Service.

Minor Accident Reported in City

Only one accident was recorded in Monessen over the weekend, police said today.

The minor collision near 11th St. and Donner Ave. involved cars operated by Selphia Nash, of Clairton, and Albert Godia, of 817 Crest Dr., Monessen.

Report Record Employment

Statistics Indicate Big Rise

WASHINGTON (UP)—Total U.S. employment climbed to an all-time high of 67,200,000 last month, the government reported today.

The Commerce and Labor departments jointly announced a gain of 700,000 from the previous record number of job-holders, set in June.

They said the increase reflected "further hiring of young people in summer activities."

Unemployment dropped to three million—a decline of 300,000—as summer job-seekers found work or stopped looking.

All non-farm sectors of the economy except manufacturing showed increases in employment or held steady, the government said. Factory job totals fell a bit more than normally during the summer to increases in employment or held steady, the government said. Factory job totals fell a bit more than normally during the summer to 16,700,000.

Slight Rise

There was a slight rise in the farm work force in contrast to its usual dip from the early summer peak.

The sensus put total non-agricultural employment at 59,400,000. This gain of half a million over the June figure indicated the further hiring of students.

Employment in trade remained almost unchanged in contrast to its usual summer drop. The continuing rise in construction employment was limited in some areas by shortages resulting from the cement strike, the report said.

The government also said that moderate declines occurred among adult workers in educational services, a normal July occurrence.

The factory work week averaged 39 9 hours, 0.2 hours below July 1956 and 0.1 hours below the June level.

The government report said that "total unemployment was not significantly different from the July 1956 level." The seasonally adjusted rate of unemployment as a proportion of the civilian labor force continued steady at about 4.2 per cent.

Temporary Shutdowns

State - insured unemployment, which excludes student job seekers, rose by 90,000 in July to nearly 1,400,000. This was the result, the report said, of "temporary plant shut-downs customary at this time of year."

The number of unemployed persons entitled to state benefits increased in Michigan because of curtailed auto production.

In Massachusetts, New York, New Jersey and Pennsylvania the jump in insured unemployment totalled 50,000.

UNION FOOTS BILL — Earl Heaton, former president of the Allied Industrial Workers of America, testifies in Washington that three alleged labor racketeers took $400,000 in payments from the union they quit under charges of corruption. Heaton named Johnny Dio, Anthony Doria, both powers in New York labor circles, and Chicago labor boss Angelo Inciso.

Senate Probers Told That Dio Never Had Chance

WASHINGTON (UP) — Former union official Anthony J. Doria today pictured his friend, racketeer Johnny Dio, as a man barred by cruel society from attaining his desperate longing to be a respected labor leader.

Doria, former secretary-treasurer of the AFL United Auto Workers, said the dapper New York hoodlum "never had a chance," because of youthful indiscretion which landed him in Sing Sing prison for extortion.

"If society had treated Johnny Dio right, rather than convict and condemn him at every move, he would have been an outstanding labor leader," Doria told the Senate Labor Rackets Committee.

His impassioned defense of Dio took fire when Sen. Karl E. Mundt (R-S.D.) asked why Dio got into the UAW-AFL in 1950, starting a career which the committee charges has made Dio a kingpin in New York's labor rackets.

"My guess is that he had become tired of the part he played in and about the fringes of labor", said Doria. "He wanted at all costs to become an individual respected in labor.

"If Johnny Dio had had a great fortune, he would have given it up for that kind of title," Doria declared.

Doria, who got an $80,000 "going away" present when he quit the union, was called before Senate investigators to explain why he boosted Dio into the labor movement.

$150,000 Damage in Pittsburgh Fire

PITTSBURGH (UP) — A six-alarm fire wrecked a two - story commercial building on the city's North Side early Sunday, causing damage estimated at $150,000.

The building housed a tavern, bowling alley, candy shop and pattern-making shop.

Families living in a row of houses on a nearby street were evacuated temporarily when it appeared the fire would spread.

ST. JOSEPH, Ind. (UP)—A pair of bandits played an ace - in - the-hole at a card game Saturday. The surprised card players surrendered $850 when the two robbers entered and flashed a pistol, which took the pot.

AFL-CIO Officials To Face Questioning

CHICAGO (UP) — Two members of the AFL-CIO Executive Council will have some explaining to do to their union brothers during the four-day council meeting opening here today.

Carpenters' Union President Maurice A. Hutcheson, one of the two, took the Fifth Amendment 37 times recently when questioned about an Indiana highway scandal by a Senate public works subcommittee.

The AFL-CIO Executive Council has gone on record opposing use of the Fifth Amendment by union officials in investigations of corruption.

Hutcheson, who refused to say if he conspired with Indiana state officials to make a profit on a right-of-way land deal, did tell the senators that he never misused union funds. He has requested a chance to present his case to the 28 other members of the AFL-CIO high command.

On Carpet Too

The other council member who may be called on the carpet is Teamsters' secretary - treasurer John F. English.

English, who succeeded discredited Teamsters' President Dave Beck on the Executive Council, was quoted then as saying he would clean the Teamsters' dirty linen.

Take First Step To Shift Power Back to States

HERSHEY, Pa. (UP) — A first step has been taken toward reversing the 25-year trend of shifting government powers from the state capitols to Washington. But a long road lies ahead before such a reversal becomes reality—if it does.

A joint committee of governors and federal officials agreed here Saturday on a tentative plan for transferring parts of five federal programs to the states — along with some tax sources.

Most of the six governors on hand for the two-day conference also took a stand against any federal school construction program —a plan which President Eisenhower unsuccessfully sought to get through Congress this year.

Under the tentative agreement reached here all or parts of the federal vocational education, school lunch, natural disaster relief, water pollution and supplemental old age assistance programs would be transferred to the states.

To finance these programs the federal government would surrender to the states some forms of excise taxes such as on local telephone calls and safety deposit boxes, and increase the states' share of gift and inheritance tax collections.

Treasury Secretary Robert B Anderson, who headed a federal committee appointed by Eisenhower to work with the governors, said the joint committee's staff will draw up papers to spell out exactly how the proposal would work.

The detailed agreement will be ironed out at the second meeting of the joint committee which has not yet been scheduled.

Brewery Workers Reject Contract

PITTSBURGH (UP) — A two-year wage contract offer of the Pittsburgh and Duquesne brewing companies was rejected Sunday by members of the AFL-CIO United Brewery Workers.

There was no immediate threat of a strike, however, since the union last Friday extended the current contract a third time until Aug. 31. It originally was to have expired Aug. 1.

Union and management negotiators were expected to resume the contract talks about the middle of the week. The breweries offer called for an immediate 10 cents an hour wage increase and another 10 cents next year.

'Dud' Bazooka Shell Explodes: Four Boys Killed

DOVER, Pa. (UP)—Two separate investigations today were under way in the wake of the explosion of a "dud" bazooka shell which killed four boys—two sets of brothers—here Saturday.

Three of the boys, Lynwood D. Baker, 10, Steven G. Baker, 8, and Joseph Weaver, 10, died instantly. Gary Weaver, 14, died three hours after the explosion in a York hospital. Jonas Jacobs, 76, grandfather of the Weaver brothers, was injured by flying shell fragments but his condition was listed as satisfactory by doctors at the West Side Osteopathic Hospital.

An on-the-spot investigation is being conducted by state police. A second inquiry reportedly is under way at Fort Bragg, N.C., where the Weaver children are said to have picked up a number of "dud" shells from a firing range while visiting an older brother stationed there with U.S. Airborne forces. State police deactivated four other "duds"—two bazooka shells, a mortar shell and a hand grenade, found at the Weaver home where the blast occurred.

The four children were playing outside the Weaver residence. Jacobs, the only eye-witness to the blast, said that one of them pitched the shell a few feet and it exploded when it hit.

Mayor Seeks to Halt Newspaper Strike in Boston

BOSTON (UP)—The publishers of Boston's three major daily newspapers meet with union officials and Mayor John B. Hynes today to negotiate the strike which has choked off a 1,222,712 combined circulation.

In an unexpected move Sunday the mayor contacted the leaders of both factions and asked them to meet with him either at his office or the state Labor Board.

Hynes said the "daily newspaper is almost as necessary as our daily bread and butter" and urged the striking Mailers' Union and the pubishers to settle the wage dispute as quickly as possible.

Early today pickets paced the walks surrounding the Morning and Evening Globe, the Herald-Traveler, and the Record-American - Advertiser. The publishers suspended operations when the 300 mailers walked off their jobs Friday evening and other unions within the newspaper plants supported the action.

Chief Max Milstein of the Mailers' Union, a branch of the International Typographical Union, wants the present $94.13 weekly wage boosted to $110.

County Minister Dies on Sunday

MOUNT PLEASANT, Pa. (UP) —The Rev. Earl Coddington, pastor of both the First Methodist and Calvary Methodist churches, died Sunday at his home in Stahlstown.

Rev. Coddington, 73, who once operated a grocery chain with his brothers at Morgantown, W. Va., will be buried at Oakland, Md., following services at the First Methodist Church here at 1 p.m. e.d.t. Tuesday.

The 73 year old churchman entered the ministry seven years ago. He held a pastorate at Fairchance, Pa., before being assigned to Stahlstown.

Civil Rights Backers Okay Senate Version

WASHINGTON (UP) — Civil rights organizations are conducting a drive to put grass roots pressure on Republican House members to go along with the Senate civil rights bill or a close substitute.

Reliable sources said leaders of the National Assn. for the Advancement of Colored People, labor organizations and others are trying to convince their branches that the Senate bill is about the only one that can get through Congress this year.

These sources said one reason the House is marking time on the bill is to allow the grass roots pressure to build up on GOP House members.

They said efforts are particularly directed at members from states like New York, New Jersey and Connecticut where members facing possible close election fights next year need Negro, labor and liberal votes to win.

Action on the measure, which the House has had since last Thursday, may be put off until next week to allow Democrats and Republicans time to maneuver for position and to gather support, a Democratic source said. Republicans are holding out for a stronger bill to meet administration objections to the Senate measure.

Other congressional news:

Colleges: Sen. Clifford P. Case (R-N J.) said he woud introduce a bill today for a $2,500,000 federal program to aid the states in developing plans to expand their college facilities. Case said need for such a program was pointed up by the report Saturday by President Eisenhower's committee on education beyond the high school. The group said the number of youths seeking admission to college will double by 1970.

Disarmament: Sen. Hubert H Humphrey (D-Minn.) disagreed with Secretary of State John Foster Dulles and said Red China should be included in any disarmament agreement to make it effective. He also said disarmament was a complicated subject and would take years to achieve.

Politics: Sen. Strom Thurmond (D-S.C.) threatened a southern bolt if both major parties nominate strong civil rights candidates in the 1960 presidential election. Thurmond, who headed the states' rights ticket in 1948, said he believed the South would go along with Senate Democratic Leader Lyndon B. Johnson as a presidential candidate despite his vote for the modified civil rights bill. Sen. Barry M Goldwater (R-Ariz.) said Senate GOP Leader William F. Knowland strengthened his chances in case he should make a presidential bid by his support of the broader administration civil rights bill.

Police Promise Blood for Pistol Whipped Youth

PHILADELPHIA (UP)- Grateful policemen promised to donate all the blood needed to save the life of a young hemophilia sufferer pistol-whipped by a hoodlum while aiding a rookie policeman.

The victim, Robert Maher, 21, of Yeadon, was taken to Jefferson Hospital Saturday night with injuries suffered while trying to summon aid for Robert Swift, 22, a rookie patrolman who stopped three youths acting suspiciously.

Swift was knocked down by one of the youths and another grabbed the patrolman's pistol from his shoulder holster. The hoodlum with the pistol caught Maher in a telephone booth where he was calling for help.

Maher, whose ailment prevents his blood from clotting, suffered severe loss of blood and had nearly all his teeth knocked out by the hoodlum's pistol whipping. The three youths fled in an automobile before help arrived.

Members of the Fraternal Order of Police volunteered all the blood donations necessary for Maher. He received four pints of blood Sunday and physicians said he may need more.

State Potato Growers Will Meet Wednesday

By UNITED PRESS

The two-day annual meeting of the Pennsylvania Cooperative Potato Growers Association opens at Coudersport in Potter County on Wednesday.

A full program of activities is planned including soil conservation demonstrations, fertilizer experiments, a potato recipe contest, teen-age fishing, a chicken barbecue and professional entertainment.

State Secretary of Agriculture William L. Henning will crown Miss Donna Lee Brumbaugh, of Martinsburg in Blair County, as the 1957 state Potato Blossom Queen at Thursday's meeting.

Also included on Thursday's program for the more than 1,000 potato growers and guests expected to attend is a tour of the breeding experimental farm of Dr. E. L. Nixon, adviser to the potato cooperative.

Henning is also scheduled to address the group following the coronation ceremonies, as is Ivan Miller of Corry in Erie County, president of the association.

Fined

The State Department of Agriculture announced today that John Naser, Jr., of RD1, Greensburg, Westmoreland County, was fined $700 and costs for violations of Pennsylvania meat bygiene laws.

Dr. Howard A. Milo, director of the Bureau of Animal Industry, said Naser failed to comply with sanitary and health regulations and did not have a rendering plant license although he was operating a rendering plant.

Milo said Naser, who operates a slaughterhouse in Westmoreland County, was cited for having unwholesome meat in his possession.

The Bureau of Animal Industry is responsible for inspecting all slaughtering and rendering plants for sanitation.

The State Department of Agriculture today outlined a plan to limit the destructive effects of Dutch elm disease.

The disease, believed to have been introduced to this country in a shipment of logs from Holland in the 1930's, has already ruined large numbers of trees in some communities and on estates and college campuses.

Dutch elm disease is spread from diseased to healthy trees by European and native bark beetles, which are numerous from mid-May to October. The beetles are attracted to trees weakened by the elm leaf beetle.

Doctor Thomas L. Guyton, director of the plant industry, said all diseased trees should be cut and burned. He said this should be done before the bark beetles come out in May.

If the diseased trees are not destroyed, the infection will be spread to healthy trees in a short time.

The diseased trees can be detected by wilted leaves, usually noticeable first in the top branches.

Steel Magazine Sees Upturn in New Orders

CLEVELAND (UP)—Steel Magazine looked to the auto industry today in predicting an upturn in orders for September delivery.

Demand from auto makers has been slack through the year, but the metalworking weekly said appearance of the 1958 models was expected to boost the market.

Many new auto models are expected to reach the market in the last week of October and the first week of November.

Should the expected increase develop, it would break the pattern of steady but under-capacity production of the past six weeks.

Steel production has hovered around 80 per cent of capacity for that period. Even so, output for the first eight months of the year will total some 78,500,000 net tons, Steel said. The total is 2,600,000 tons more than the production for the same period of the record 1955 steelmaking year.

Fifteen of the 19 makes of autos will appear in late October and early November. Ford's new Edsel will be out a week after Labor Day, followed shortly by Lincoln. Mercury will be out in mid-October. Cadillac should bow in October. Chevrolet is expected in early November, along with Pontiac Buick and Oldsmobile are slated for late November premiers Chrysler cars will appear between mid-October and the end of November. Studebaker-Packard and American Motors plan to introduce their lines in October.

The publication pointed out that steel orders must precede by several weeks the actual production of autos.

Elsewhere in the steel industry, briefly, Steel said:

Reduced stocks of finished machines have strengthened activity in the farm implement industry.

The appliance field still is marked with lethargy, stocks remain high enough to prevent ambitious production schedules.

The construction industry continues to take up some slack in low demand by other consuming industries. A brief threat of construction slowdown ended with settlement of a national cement strike.

Donner Looking Up

MONESSEN's Donner Ave. promises to be a much improved business street in the very near future.

With the old street car rails removed, a new blacktop surface applied over its entire length and curb parking prohibited on one side of the principal business district, it is soon going to be pleasure — instead of a nightmare — to use Donner Ave. for either business or pleasure.

There is just one big "if" to this: all the money and planning are going to be largely wasted if the Police Department does not begin immediately to enforce the necessary regulations and keep enforcing them day-in and day-out.

One of the chief objectives of the planning for Donner Ave. has been to keep traffic flowing smoothly and rapidly. But this can only be achieved if such practices as double-parking are stopped.

Most motorists cooperate willingly with reasonable regulations which are firmly and consistently enforced. But when enforcement is slipshod, cooperation disappears, and no matter how good the planning has been or how much money has been spent on improvements, good results are not obtained.

Downtown Monessen, like similar districts in many other cities large and small, has some serious problems. Some require governmental action, and the city administration here has demonstrated its willingness to be helpful.

Other problems have to be met by property owners and business interests in the district. If they are going to meet the competition of other communities and of the attractive and convenient shopping centers which are springing up all around, they must make strenuous efforts in modernization and promotion.

The developments on Donner Ave. are most encouraging. We hope they continue.

New Defense Head

PRESIDENT Eisenhower has called on another eminently successful businessman, Neil McElroy, president of Procter & Gamble, soap manufacturers, to head the Department of Defense.

Mr. McElroy is not nearly so well known as his predecessor, Charles E. Wilson, the former president of General Motors. But he seems to have some excellent personal qualifications for the job.

He will have to go some, however, to beat Mr. Wilson. This is saying a good deal, we know, but we doubt if any other member of the Eisenhower cabinet has done a more consistently fine job than Secretary Wilson.

And we make no exception of the picturesque, off-the-cuff commentaries which got him in some hot water occasionally. For in every case these were authentic expressions of an honest and straightforward man speaking his mind. You could agree with what Mr. Wilson was saying or not, but you had to admit that there was a kernel of truth in what he was saying. And even more important, an interesting and effective personality was shining through.

Washington needs more of this — not less. And while we wouldn't suggest that Mr. McElroy try to act the role of Charlie Wilson, we hope he is equally successful in being himself.

Mr. Wilson is one outstanding business leader who has been able to make a great contribution in government. Let's hope Neil McElroy is another.

Unwelcome Visitor

THE CHILLY reception which Nikita Khrushchev received on his visit to East Germany suggests that the people of that satellite zone have not yet succumbed to Communism and Soviet domination.

Everything we know about East Germany tells us that it is held in Communist bondage against the will of its people. The uprising in East Berlin and other cities two years ago were eloquent and irrefutable testimony to that. And there have been no reasons to think that the situation is changed.

Of course the German people, both East and West, are mightily concerned to have their nation reunited. And Khrushchev is always ready, as was Stalin, to make that ambition serve Soviet purposes even though the approach has to be the most transparent blackmail.

But East Germany remains one of the weakest links in the satellite chain. The Soviet puppets who rule it have only the contempt of the population. And they know that at the first opportunity, the East Germans will break away to freedom.

There are some very good reasons why Khrushchev didn't get many cheers as he paraded through East Germany. He was lucky, in fact, not to get a hole in the head.

Merry-Go-Round—

Hoffa Jury Was Under Pressure

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON — Privately, Justice Department officials indicate that any further moves in the Hoffa jury case will be up to U. S. District Judge Burnita Shelton Matthews.

Mr. Pearson

Despite clear evidence that ex-boxing champ Joe Louis was brought to Washington at the expense of the Teamsters, plus evidence that a full page advertisement was placed in the Afro-American in order to influence the eight Negro members of the jury, Justice Department officials seem cool regarding any move toward a contempt citation.

A contempt citation could be initiated by either Judge Matthews or Judge Bolitha Laws, presiding judge of the U. S. District Court in Washington. Under Section 401 of Title 18 of the U. S. Criminal Code, Judge Matthews could summon Hoffa and associates into court and summarily fine and imprison them — if she felt any contempt occurred in her courtroom.

Or if any contempt occurred outside the courtroom, she could refer the question to a jury, as provided under Section 402 of the Criminal Code. Arrangements for Joe Louis to come to Washington were made in Chicago, obviously outside the courtroom. But Joe's pumping of Hoffa's hand in front of the jury occurred in the courtroom. The placing of the Afro-American ad also occurred outside the courtroom.

Negro Jurors Important

Clearcut evidence is contained in the stenographic record of the Hoffa trial that the lawyers were not unaware of the importance of Negroes on the jury and that Hoffa's defense attorneys went out of their way to pick Negro jurors. On page 1,485 of the court record, Judge Matthews agreed to take judicial notice of the fact that eight of the jurors were Negro.

She did this at the request of Dan Maher, a defense attorney. But she went further. She also took judicial note on her own initiative of the fact that "the defendants exercised all of their challenges to challenging members of one race, to wit the white race, while the government exercised its challenges to challenging both races in equal proportion."

What happened was that Hoffa's attorneys had challenged 16 white jurors, and struck them from the jury. They challenged no Negroes. The government, in turn, challenged three white jurors and three Negroes.

After the picking of this preponderantly Negro jury, the amiable and obliging Joe Louis was persuaded to come to Washington and put his arm around Jimmy Hoffa in sight of the jury. Simultaneously, the Afro-American, both in a full-page ad and in accompanying news columns, told how Judge Matthews was born in Mississippi, home state of Senator Eastland; how Hoffa had created job opportunities for Negroes, and how when elected head of the Teamsters he would provide many more job opportunities.

The Afro-American even printed the names and addresses of all Negro Hoffa jurors on page one. About all it omitted was their phone numbers.

This writer has now ascertained that the ad which appeared in the Afro-American was placed by John Cowling, a Detroit Negro politician, and that the organization which allegedly sponsored the ad, the "Detroit Citizens Civic Committee," does not exist. The name of its alleged director, "Frank Crowling," also appears to be fictitious.

These are some of the reasons why members of the Washington bar are indignant over what happened at the Hoffa trial, describe it as unparallelled in the annals of judicial history in the District of Columbia.

Note — The Justice Department, which has the power to order a complete investigation of these facts and call them to the attention of the court, is reported under pressure to let the Hoffa case stay right where it is. The No. 2 Teamster boss is a power in Republican politics in Michigan, went all out to support Mayor Albert Cobo of Detroit in his race for Governor against Democratic Gov. Mennen Williams, also did his best to re-elect GOP ex-Sen. Homer Ferguson. Republican members of the Senate Rackets Committee are already reported irked at Chairman McClellan and Counsel Robert Kennedy for going after Hoffa.

R. R. Runs Through the Middle of the House—!

From Washington—

Ike Loses—So Does Nation

By ROSCOE DRUMMOND

On one of the two crucial budget issues which he made a central test of his influence with Congress and on which he appealed strenuously to the country for support, President Eisenhower is losing, is losing badly.

Mr. Drummond

The issue is the size and character of the Mutual Security Program — military and economic aid to friendly nations. The battle is just about over and at this point there is no evidence that the President will be able to salvage much, if anything, from the wreckage.

The blunt fact is that Mr. Eisenhower has lost at every point. While his views have been supported almost uniformly by the Senate, they have been rejected almost uniformly by the House. Furthermore, he has lost in matters where he has the widest experience, the highest credentials and, I believe, the trust of the country.

Here is the score to date:

The Appropriation

President Eisenhower proposed a Mutual Security budget of $3,864,000,000 as vital to America's defenses. He defended it as the most economic means of increasing our defenses, that is, by putting the weapons of defense, which they could not otherwise afford, into the hands of our allies.

The Senate cut the authorization $227,000,000. The House cut it another $500,000,000, a total slash of $727,000,000. The end is not yet. This is only what is authorized. The House Appropriations Committee is busy cutting it further.

Separating the Military Side

President Eisenhower — and many others inside and outside the government — proposed to separate the military from the economic development part of the so-called "Foreign Aid" program and to put it where it belongs — in the Defense Budget. The President holds that these overseas military expenditures are as essential to our defense as the costs of our own Army, Navy and Air Force and should be identified as such in the budget and in the public mind. Almost 75 per cent of all Mutual Security funds goes to help build the defense of our allies. Most of it goes to Korea, Formosa, Vietnam, Pakistan and Turkey.

The Senate Foreign Relations Committee approved this procedure. The Senate approved it. The House Foreign Affairs Committee approved it. The House membership rejected it.

Long-term Loans

President Eisenhower — and many others inside and outside the Government — proposed that all funds for economic — that is, non-military — assistance be put on the basis of long-term loans. The purpose is not only to get away from gifts, which are bad for receiver as well as benefactor — all agree with this part of the proposal — but also to make possible intelligent, practicable, business-like long-range planning so that the funds could be most efficiently used.

The Senate approved the President's request for a $500,000,000 Development Loan Revolving Fund and for authority to borrow up to $750,000,000 in each of the first two years to keep the Fund going. The House rejected these provisions.

Mr. Eisenhower's recommendations are supported by every independent study which has been made of the aid program during the past year — by the Benjamin Fairless committee, by the International Development Advisory Board headed by Eric Johnston, by the Massachusetts Institute of Technology Center for International Studies and by three special committees for whose detached advice the Senate appropriated $300,000.

Program Necessary

The unanimous conclusions of these businessmen, who would not be disposed to spend the money if it were not absolutely necessary, economists and other experts were:

That a Mutual Security program of the present scope or somewhat larger is clearly in the national interest.

That it will continue to be needed for some years to come.

That it is an eminently wise and economic means of strengthening our own security and that if we stopped it we would have to increase our direct defense budget as much or more.

That assisting underdeveloped nations economically is the most productive means of countering Soviet influence.

That the program should be reorganized as the President has proposed.

Events by now have apparently overrun any opportunity to restore the Mutual Security program to the level equal to the need. Unless the House can be brought by the President and by the public to reverse itself next year, we will be recklessly throwing away one of the most valuable means of defense.

Mr. Eisenhower has a tremendous educational campaign ahead of him.

National Affairs—

Republicans Want New Jersey Victory

By RAMOND LAHR

WASHINGTON (UP) — The administration and the national Republican organization are showing extraordinary interest in winning the New Jersey governorship next November.

Mr. Lahr

A victory would return to Republican control one of the statehouses in pivotal states where Democrats now hold the governorships. State houses provide the patronage sinews for state party organizations.

Coincidentally GOP victory in New Jersey would kill off one of the potential candidates for the 1960 Democratic presidential nomination. It would mean the defeat of Gov. Robert B. Meyner, the incumbent Democrat seeking re-election.

Malcolm S. Forbes, state senator and Republican nominee for the governorship, visited Washington Thursday to see Vice President Richard M. Nixon, members of the New Jersey congressional delegation and Presidential Assistant Sherman Adams. He saw President Eisenhower during another recent visit.

Ike Offers Help

Nixon offered to make a campaign appearance. Forbes said he would be invited. Eisenhower has offered to give any help he could.

In bringing the national party into the picture, however, the New Jersey GOP must guard against fanning resentment over outside intrusion in a state campaign. But New Jersey voters will no doubt be reminded that the state election will be watched nationally as a barometer foretelling future political weather.

The adjoining states of Pennsylvania and New York, both politically important ones with Democratic governors, will hold state elections next year. So will the weathervane state of Connecticut and more heavily populated Massachusetts and Michigan, which also have Democratic governors.

President Eisenhower carried all those states in 1956 even though the rival party controlled the statehouses. But his name will not be on the ballot in 1960.

Among the so-called pivotal states whose electoral votes are most prized in presidential elections only California, Illinois and Ohio now have Republican governors.

The New Jersey election will be one of three 1957 state contests which will be carefully watched for signs of a trend. The first will be Aug. 27 when normally Republican Wisconsin elects a successor to the late Republican Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy.

Even if the Republican nominee is the favorite, Democrats will analyze the Wisconsin results to see if there is still evidence of farm discontent with the administration in the Middle West.

A governor also will be elected in November in normally Democratic Virginia where the GOP is more optimistic than usual. Their nominee is Ted Dalton. He ran for the same office four years ago and polled 45 per cent of the vote, the best showing by a Republican candidate since the Reconstruction years.

Only one special election has been held this year — in New Mexico — to fill a vacancy in the House of Representatives. A Democrat was elected to a seat formerly held by a Democrat.

Youth at 'War'—

Figures on New York Crime 'Sickening'

By DOC QUIGG

NEW YORK (UP)—This city is going through a sickening period of "war" on a segment of its youth. The segment is a lawless fringe bred in poverty, brought up in bitterness in broken and alcoholic homes, left unloved and neglected by parents.

In the face of a flare-up of youth crime—three persons killed and four critically injured within a few days — the police department has thrown in 600 additional men, rookies from its academy, for patrol duty. It has called on parents to awaken to duty.

Juvenile offenders have killed 22 persons in New York City since the start of the year. This is not the result of gang warfare, although New York has about 500 juvenile gangs with about 8,000 members. Of these, 110 are listed as "fighting gangs" which stir trouble.

Individual Type Crime

But the latest streak of beatings, assaults, and killings seems to be of individual, rather than gang, origin — "spontaneous, senseless attacks," in the words of Walter Arm, police deputy commissioner in charge of community relations.

If it is true that juvenile crime reflects periods of adult tension, such as war or other unrest, or anxiety, a study of the police figures in New York City indicates a nervous period right now.

The published figures on yearly arrests of youths under 16 show 3,830 for the year 1940—then a jump to 5,000-plus for each of the war years 1943-44-45, with the last of those three showing nearly 6,000. In the postwar years of that decade the arrests ran along rather evenly at 3,500-plus, and in 1950 were 3,424—lower than they were exactly 10 years earlier despite the population increase.

The Korean War started in 1950, and during the next three years the arrests were up to 4,000-plus. Then, instead of going down, they went like this: 6,012 in 1954; 6,578 in 1955; 8,714 last year.

Youth "Need Somebody"

Willie Mays, the baseball player, used to spend a great deal of his spare time away from the ball park playing stickball with the kids in his neighborhood. When asked why this extra expenditure of energy on the part of a man who was already expending a great deal at his regular job, he pointed to the youngsters and said simply: "They need somebody."

You might be interested in contrasting this attitude of a man who obviously loved kids with a paragraph in a New York Times news story about neighborhood youth crime:

"A boy who has to sleep on a rooftop because he is afraid his father will come home drunk and beat him finds it difficult to resist the lure of the gang."

Geraldine Meluck Is Wed

Is Bride of Walter Harris At Holy Name

Geraldine Meluck chose to wear a gown of white taffeta and lace for the solemnization of her marriage vows with Walter Harris on Saturday afternoon, Aug. 10, at 2:30 o'clock.

They were wed in the Most Holy Name of Jesus Church before an altar arranged with ferns and lilies.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Stephen Meluck, Jr., of 1282 Rostraver St. Her husband is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Harris, of 643 Reed Ave.

Bridal Party

Given in marriage by her father, the bride had as her honor attendant, Evelyn Arabia. Bridesmaids were Irene Varga, Ruth Fayak, of Monessen, and Janet Harris, of Charleroi.

Susan Lynn Tweardy was the flower girl.

Mr. Harris asked Richard Wattras to serve as best man. Ushers were George Vlasich, Edward Szymczyk, of Donora, and John Scarvel, of Farrell.

The bride's gown was fashioned with a fitted bodice, a sabrina neckline and long sleeves accented with iridescent sequins. The full bouffant skirt of taffeta was styled with a scalloped Lemline over a deep ruffle of Chantilly lace outlined with iridescent sequins and formed a chapel train. Her fingertip veil of imported silk illusion was attached to a queen's crown of rhinestones. She carried a cascade bouquet of pink roses.

Identical ensembles were worn by the maid of honor and the bridesmaids. They wore gowns of turquoise iridescent taffeta styled with peacock blue cummerbunds. Bustle effects and inserts of peacock blue provided the back interest. They wore hats to match their gowns with veiling accents and carried cascade bouquets of yellow roses.

Flower Girl

The little flower girl wore a gown similar to the adult attendants. She carried a basket of yellow sweetheart roses and wore a crown of yellow roses in her hair.

Mrs. Meluck wore a mauve lace dress with a cummerbund of matching chiffon and an orchid corsage for her daughter's wedding. The mother of the bridegroom chose a beige lace ensemble with an orchid corsage.

A wedding reception at the Charleroi Elks supplemented the ceremony. White wedding bells, ferns and mixed garden flowers were used as decorations. A tiered wedding cake centered the bridal table.

Out of Town Guests

Guests attended from New Jersey, New York, Ohio and valley towns.

After a wedding trip to Connecticut the couple will reside in Sidney, Ohio. Mr. Harris, who is a graduate of California State Teachers College has accepted a position as a high school teacher there. He served two years in the armed forces.

The new Mrs. Harris was employed at the Federal Credit Union of the Pittsburgh Steel Co.

'Speaking of Beauty'
"EXCITING COLOR CHANGES"
By James V. Bonafed

CHANGING your hair colour is exciting—and so rewarding! Do try it soon . . . But when you change hair colour, remember it's time to change the colors you wear too . . . make-up, nails, clothing. And change your perfume — because your hair colour gives you a new personality.

-o-

AUBURN HAIR is such fun. You'll feel like a femme fatale when you leave our salon. For tones of red especially, we recommend a complete change of make-up and dress colors.

-o-

Red hair and darker skin looks best with golden rachel make-up, plus gold-toned lipstick and rouge. Use black mascara only. Now pick a spiced perfume for your "spicy" look.

-o-

LIGHT SKIN with auburn hair? Your foundation should have peachy tones, your lipstick a coral caste. Black mascara, please . . . will shadow the shade of your eyes. Your new scent?—the most exotic you can find!

-o-

Newly blonde? Pick pretty pastel make-up. Now you're the "Gainsborough" girl, pretty as a picture! Remember black is your most dramatic dress colour with exciting blonde hair . . . but do own one stunning dress in lipstick red!

-o-

BLACK-haired, ivory-skinned women need bold color! And if you're darker skinned, with new inky hues on your head, choose olive make-up. Light red lipstick. Dramatic scent!

Wouldn't you like an all-new personality tomorrow? We'll make your most cherished dreams come true with custom-blended hair colour . . . yours alone! Don't put it off. Phone us!

ON THE BALL

By CLAIR BROWN

Ozarks Did Tremendous Job in MVL

Manager Pappy Johnson and his co-Captains Bob Mastracci and Bill Mitnick deserve a lot of credit for doing a bang-up job with this year's Monessen Ozark nine. After a poor start, the Ozarks came battling down to the wire and played some terrific ball despite not making the fourth slot. It was one of the best races in valley history. In only two games this season did the locals fail to get an extra base blow. They were hurting defensively, however, for, up until Thursday's New Eagle tilt, the last time the Ozarks played errorless ball was June 12th at Ninth Street Park. One of the backbones of the team was Fuzzy Anderson with a 5-1 record, all on bull-pen assignments.

Bob Lazor, Pitt cage star last season, who hails from Canonsburg, will report to the Detroit Pistons in September, having recently signed a pact with that NBA club . . . Speaking of Pitt basketball, the Panthers are so high on Don Hennon, their sophomore flash of last season that they are calling him the "greatest thing to hit Pitt baseball since Charley Hyatt" and that covers a lot of territory. If you need proof of how great a player was Hyatt, check with Ex-Fayette City resident Dr. H. C. Carlson who tutored Hyatt. Carlson is now head of the Health Department at Pitt. Hyatt, by the way, used to practice pivoting, by "stepping around" every telephone he passed on his hometown streets in Uniontown.

West Newton Nine Deserves Plaudits

Although the Fayette City, Charleroi, Perryopolis, New Eagle, Donora and Monessen Ozark nines provided the thrills in the terrific finish of the Mon Valley League, we think the team which deserves all the plaudits for making the 1957 season such a success is the West Newton entry. Any team which can approach the end of a 40-game schedule without posting a victory and still have enough players show for every game when more experienced teams "quit" as soon as they are out of the playoff picture they should be applauded. The Newtons are a young outfit so look for Tom Caudill's boys to surprise a few teams next season. They came close this season, dropping several "one-runners" but never quite made it to "victory-land."

* * *

Talk about not waiting until the last minute, how about the Italian National Olympic Committee starting to plan press facilities for the 1960 Olympic games, set for Rome, three years in advance. With planning like that its bound to be a success. Mama Mia! . . . In case you missed the Pittsburgh Steelers' home card for this coming season, here it is: Sept. 29—Redskins; Oct. 5 — Browns; Oct. 13 — Cardinals; Oct. 27 — Eagles; Nov. 24 — Packers; Dec. 7 — Giants. Providing the old injury bug doesn't hit the team the Steelers should have a good season in '57 . . . Monessen's Carl Crawley has apparently decided to give up the West Penn-Allegheny All-Star game at Forbes Field this week as his name does not appear on the official roster.

Special Hat for Golfing 'Hot-heads'

Attention! golfers! Not only are the manufacturers of golfing equipment thinking about your game they are now concentrating on your comfort. For instance, the latest thing to be ready for market is a new golfing cap which is supposed to keep heads 20 degrees cooler with a thin layer of aluminum which reflects the sun's heat rays. Very valuable for "hotheads!" . . . An ex-Brownsville resident has been signed to a minor league contract with the Detroit Tigers system. He is Carman Stanza, now of Detroit. He was signed, naturally, by another Brownsviller who made good with the Tigers, the veteran Pat Mullin, now a Detroit scout.

Helpful Rules Changes Made Pro Cage Popular

By VINNIE BORYLA

DENVER, Colo. (UP) — Basketball as it is played by today's professionals is a fascinating sport.

Changes in the rules, principally the outlawing of the zone defense and the introduction of the 24-second time limit on shots, had much to do with the rapid emergence of the pro courtman to a point where his pay is comparable to that received by baseball and football stars.

The colleges are amiss in not adopting more of the pro innovations. Their failure to write in the 24-second clock and ban the zone defense explain the drop in their attendance in locales where they are in patronage competition with the National Basketball Assn., the major pro circuit.

College people are losing sight of the fact that they must make their game more interesting to spectators and to their players. In fact, they have a bigger selling job to the public because the pros are breathtakingly gifted. Their's is basketball at its best.

Made The Circle

I have made the circle in basketball, playing at Notre Dame and Denver universities; with the AAU Denver Nuggets, on the U.S. Olympic team, and with the professional New York Knickerbockers. I feel I'm qualified to offer some helpful hints to the college basketball fraternity.

The unappealing, time-dragging, no-action zone defense should be outlawed. Unfortunately, it is becoming more prevalent. It is the easy way of coaching for percentage-conscious coaches. Boys guard areas instead of opponents. When both teams employ it everyone just stands around, the spectators yawn and yell in derision and it all adds up to attendance sags and unfavorable comment from the press.

The kids themselves don't like their present game. They prefer the 24-second rule, the man-for-man defense and a running game for the full 40 minutes.

Tough On Collegians

Many of these collegians hope to move on to the well-paid pros when graduates, but those without a thorough knowledge of man-for-man defense have two strikes on them before they reach training camp.

The campus hero is finding it increasingly difficult to make good with the pros. The eight clubs in the NBA are limited to 10-man squads. Each of these clubs has seven or eight outstanding players, some with three or more years of experience in the league. The other spots are usually occupied by holdovers of skill. The rookies must dislodge this type of established performer.

Unlike baseball with its farm clubs and professional football with 33-man squads, the pro basketball coach must select what he considers his best 10 players and cut the rest adrift before the season starts, usually a month's look-see. Because of this time element and no minor leagues for development, promising newcomers must be turned loose.

City Net Resumes Tonight

Following a slight delay due to work schedules of the participants, action will resume tonight in the Monessen City Recreation Department American Legion Post 28 sponsored tennis tourney at City Park.

Doubles competition tonight finds Thompson and Szymanski meeting Musial and Kurey at 6 o'clock. The former two earned the right to compete in the finals semi-finals with a 6-3, 6-4 victory over the D'Angelo-D'Alessio team.

Another match tonight shows the Silko-Baker duo battling a team of Howski and Yezerinac.

The winners of each match will compete in the finals Tuesday at 6 o'clock.

U. S. Wightman Cup Team Easily Retains 25th Title

By JOHN CARROLL

PITTSBURGH (UP)—The United States, buttressed by experience and the tradition of winning, retained a firm grasp on the Wightman Cup tennis trophy today but the youthful and willing British challengers warned they'll be waiting in 1958 with another year's competition to toughen their game.

America's women tennis titans rolled to a 6-1 victory at nearby Edgeworth Club Sunday and Saturday to keep the international challenge cup here for the 21st time in a row and the 25th time in the 29 years of competition.

Non-playing British captain Mrs. Mary Halford cautioned, however, "my girls are young. We hope to do better next year.

"It was a wonderful tournament," she said, "but I'm afraid now it is 28 years since we've held the cup. I only hope it won't be 80. We lost to a better team in fair and square play."

Leggy Althea Gibson, 29-year-old Wimbledon singles champion from Harlem, New York, notched two American triumphs in singles play and paired with her Wimbledon runner-up Darlene Hard to take a doubles match as the Americans moved swiftly over the British team of three teenagers and two in their mid-20s.

Dorothy Head Knode of Forest Hills, N.Y., defeated 22-year-old British ace Shirley Bloomer, 5-7, 6-1, 6-2, in the fifth match that gave the United States the needed four victories to clinch the cup.

In a wailing game that took two hours and 10 minutes to play, the heat-wearied Mrs. Knode and Miss Bloomer seemed content to battle from the baselines and hope for their opponent to miscue in long volly action.

Ann Haydon recorded the only British victory of the matches with an impressive 6-1, 6-3, 6-4 triumph over power-hitting Miss Hard that led some to suspect the third-seeded British southpaw was an ace in the hole saved for the essential win.

Miss Gibson, who slammed her way to a 6-4, 4-6, 6-2 victory over top-rated Miss Bloomer in the tourney opener, made quick work of 16-year-old British tennis-tike Christine Truman, 6-4, 6-2, in an anti-climactic sixth match. Miss Truman had fallen victim, 6-2, 11-9 to Mrs. Knode on Saturday.

The second doubles match, the curtain closer of the cup play, proved to be the fastest and most exciting as Mrs. Margaret Osborne Du Pont and Louise Brough exhibited almost perfect co-ordination to defeat Anne Shilcock and Miss Haydon, 6-4, 6-1. The No. 2 doubles team of Miss Gibson and Miss Hard handily won its opening day' match, 6-3, 6-4, over Miss Bloomer and 18-year-old Sheila Armstrong.

AMERICANS MAKE SWEEP

FILIPSTAD, Sweden (UP) — American athletes won five of nine events in an international track and field meet as Ken Bantum of New York set two local records by throwing the discus 165 8 feet and putting the shot 54.18 feet. Reggie Pearman of New York set a new stadium record of 48.5 for 400 meters.

Local Youth Ball Boy For Wightman Cup

One of the ball boys in the Wightman Cup series at the Edgewood Club over the weekend was a Monessen youth, James V. Baker, a member of the Junior Davis Cup team.

He has spent several days as a house guest of the Frank Hawkins family in Sewickley during the tournament. James is the son of Mr. and Mrs. James V. Baker, of 610 Third St., Monessen.

New Eagle Surprises Fayette City by 7-2

New Eagle surprised Fayette City and went one-up in their Mon Valley League playoff series at Fayette City yesterday as Jess Leach fashioned a five-hitter in a 7-2 victory.

Leach fanned eight and walked four as his mates backed him with an 11-hit attack.

Fayette City ace Don Young was clobbered in the very first inning when New Eagle loaded the bases on two singles and a walk then forced in a run with another walk plus Jess Leach's double which cleared the sacks. Johnny Bewick then singled to score Leach and give the visitors a 5-0 cushion

Two Fayette City runs crossed in the third when Manager Henry Muckle singled. Ray Ermlich was hit by a pitched ball and Livingstone advanced the runners on a force followed by a passed ball and a double by Lutes.

New Eagle tallied two insurance markers in the sixth, one on a homer by Steve Lomago and another on a double by Bewick, an error on Bob Gondos blow and a single by Gene Uhlman, who was New Eagle's hitting star with three for four.

Tonight its second place Charleroi hosting third-place Perry at Charleroi Stadium while tomorrow night Fayette City travels to New Eagle as playoff action continues.

It's Playoff Time for Recreation Loop, TCSL

Playoff time is here. Practically all of the baseball and softball circuits in the area are currently engaged in championship competition. For instance, the Tri-County Softball League opens its playoff series tonight at Monongahela. The local Prep League opened its playoffs Friday followed by the Minors today. The Mon Valley Baseball League championship series opened at Fayette City yesterday.

In the Tri-County League tonight the Monessen CIO entry travels to Monongahela to battle the pennant-winning squad there.

Tonight's tilt will be the first of a best-of-three game series. The locals finished third in the regular season. Tomorrow night it's second-place Roscoe against fourth-place Pricedale at Roscoe. Wednesday night Monongahela comes here for the second game of that series and Thursday Roscoe meets Pricedale at Lynnwood in their second game. The third, tilts, if necessary, will be played at sites to be decided later.

Defensive Standouts

This season the Monessen team has been one of the top defensive teams in the TCSL but has fallen down offensively on occasion. Manager Jim Cramer is hoping some of the other players on the squad will find themselves to give the locals some hitting to go along with the big bat of Babe Weightman.

A top notch hurling staff represents the locals with Tom Standard, Steve Petrusky and Jack Kuhn handling those chores. Several times this season they have pitched terrific games only to be let down by their teammates in the hitting department. Cramer is undecided as to which one to pitch tonight against the league-leaders.

With some breaks and some hitting the locals could pick up all the marbles in the playoff competition.

In the local Recreation League the Pirates and the Braves meet in a first place playoff, the two teams having tied with 12-5 marks. Prep League action finds the Blackhawks one-up on the Hilltops as they go into the second game of the best-of-three series for the title.

Tomorrow it's the regular schedule in the Minors with the Braves vs. the Pirates in the last regularly scheduled game and Wednesday the All-Star game is carded.

Brownsville Team Wins Softball Go

ALTOONA, Pa. (UP)— Tom Simpson homered in the seventh inning Sunday to give Brownsville a 2-1 victory over Bethlehem in the final of the Keystone Amateur Softball Assn.'s Major Tournament.

Brownsville will represent Pennsylvania in the International Softball League World Series at New Bedford, Ill., later this month.

Bethlehem, which advanced to the final by defeating the Allentown Hoovers, 5-2, in the afternoon, was held to six hits by Brownsville pitcher Dave Liptak.

Al DeLuca Cites Value of Formal College Education

"A formal education teaches the lesson first and then the test while experience presents the test and the lesson is learned afterwards," explained Al DeLuca, St Vincent College grid coach in his address before the St. Sebastian Holy Name Society at Celapino's Restaurant yesterday.

Speaking before a throng of over 100 men DeLuca interspersed informative bits on the difference between a formal education and an education by experience with words of humor, which had the group "in stitches."

Others on the program included the Rev. David Fisher and the Rev. Robert Feeney, assistant pastors at St. Sebastian's. Father Feeney is the new spiritual adviser of the Society, succeeding the Rev. Henry Murphy, now pastor at Palmer, Pa.

Art LaPointe, out-going president of the society was presented a gift in appreciation of his services during the past year. The presentation was made by current president Clair Brown, Monessen Daily Independent sports editor, who "emceed" the program.

The new officers of the organization were introduced as were Cleo Valdiserri and Dom Sack, of the Belle Vernon American Legion Post 659, who have assisted the St. Sebastian organization in many helpful ways during the past year; and Joseph Barger and Al Touche, co-chairmen of the recent successful Lawn Fete which raised $8,000 for the church.

In his talk, DeLuca also explained the difficulties of coaching at smaller colleges where scholastic requirements are very high and scholarships (athletic) very sparse.

This was the second annual "big breakfast" of the Belle Vernon church group. Fritzie Zivic addressed last year's fete.

Other new officers in addition to Brown include Paul Nagy and Joe Tintori, vice-presidents; James Kehr, secretary; Ross Flora, marshall; Art LaPointe and Joe Ferrari, delegates; Earl Neil and Mike Kara, alternates.

MHS Grid Exams

Prospective Monessen High School grid candidates for this season are to report to the Vocational School Thursday morning, Aug. 15 at 9:30 o'clock.

Dr. M. W. Heatter will be on hand for the initial physical examinations that day.

Practice cannot start under WPIAL rules until Monday, August 19.

Jefferson Midget Grid Hopefuls to Register

Registration for the Jefferson Midget Football Team will be held at 1 p. m .tomorrow at the Ninth St. Park. All boys interested in playing must be between 9 and 12 years of age and must live within the following boundaries:

From Donner Ave to Summit between the right side of Third St. to the left side of Ninth St.; and from the upper side of Summit out to Leeds, down the left side of Leeds up to the lower side of Watkins, out Watkins to Grand Blvd., down the left side of Grand Blvd. to Third St.

At the registration all boys will be issued a Parent Consent Slip. No boy will be permitted to practice until this slip is given to the coach.

The Jefferson coaching staff consists of:

Carmen DeMarco, head coach; Bruce Pezelle, assistant coach; Ted Alatsis, assistant coach; Adam Masci, assistant coach; Mimi DeFlorio, assistant coach.

HANDLERS PLEASED

GREENWOOD LAKE, N.Y. (UP)—Sugar Ray Robinson's handlers said today they were well pleased with the middleweight champion's showing in his first boxing drill in preparation for next month's title bout against welterweight king Carmen Basilio.

DOCTORING YOUR GOLF

Hitting Them Fat

When we say we hit the shot "fat," we mean the clubhead contacted the ground first instead of the ball first — as should be the case. And you hit this kind of a shot when you try to give the ball extra life with faulty hand action.

This incorrect action is always accompanied by a dropping of the right shoulder, as if you were trying to scoop the ball up. For correct action, always drive down and through the ball; the built-in loft of the clubhead will give the ball all the lift it needs.

If hitting the shot "fat" is your problem, concentrate plenty of this down-and-through action. The "fat" shot is associated almost exclusively with the irons, but the fault can also crop up with the fairway woods — seldom with the driver.

Williams Sets New 'Walk' Record (27)

BOSTON (UP) — Ted Williams was credited today with a new major league record for intentional bases on balls in one season.

The Boston Red Sox' slugger was walked intentionally once in each game of a doubleheader Sunday raising his total for the campaign to 27. The previous big league record of 26 was held by Duke Snider of the Brooklyn Dodgers.

Steelers Drop Four Rookies From Squad

OLEAN, N.Y. (UP) — The Pittsburgh Steelers dropped four rookie players from the roster Sunday.

Released were Phil Bennett, end, University of Miami; Roman Gavin, back, Florida A&M; George Glagola, end, Pittsburgh, and Don Heald, guard, Slippery Rock Teachers.

Bucs Dim Dodgers' Flag Hopes

PITTSBURGH (UP) — The Pittsburgh Pirates may have killed Brooklyn's pennant hopes. Their doubleheader sweep over the Dodgers Sunday was a disastrous blow at the Dodgers' hopes of overtaking league-leading Milwaukee.

Pittsburgh's victories, 4-3 in 10 innings and 6-2, dropped the Dodgers 6½ games behind the Braves, who are on a big winning streak.

Bill Mazeroski singled home the winning run for the Pirates in the opener. The Dodgers went into the ninth inning with a 3-2 lead, but with two out Paul Smith homered in the Pirate half to send the game into overtime, Gene Freese scored the winning run. He singled, advanced on Frank Thomas' single and came home on Mazeroski's safety.

In the second game the Pirates pounded four Dodger pitchers for 11 hits, while the Brooks were being shackled by Charlie (Whammy) Douglas and reliefer Roy Face. Freese hit a two-run homer for the Pirates.

The Pirates, idle today, move to Philadelphia for night games on Wednesday and Thursday.

The Pirates optioned Roman Mejias to Columbus in the International League Sunday to make room for lefthanded pitcher Bob Smith, who had been on the inactive list with an injured arm.

Zulueta-Ippolito On TV Tonight

NEW YORK (UP)—Lightweight contender Orlando Zulueta is favored at 8-5 for his comeback start tonight in a TV 10-rounder with Frankie Ippolito at St. Nicholas Arena.

Cuban Zulueta is still ranked third among lightweight contenders although he was stopped in the 15th round of his title bout with champion Joe Brown at Denver, June 15. He hasn't fought since.

Ippolito of New York, 23, is unranked; but he is well supported in the betting because of excellent performances in his two latest bouts. Also because he punches harder than 29-year-old Orlando.

PIRATES OPTION MEJIAS

PITTSBURGH (UP) — Outfielder Roman Mejias was optioned to Columbus of the International League today by the Pittsburgh Pirates to make room for lefthanded pitcher Bob Smith, who was reinstated from the disabled list.

Championship Race Set for Arden Tomorrow

The 50-lap season championship race for stock cars will be held at Washington Raceway this Tuesday night.

It's the second in the championship series of the four-track Pittsburgh Racing Assn. Bob Lucci won the first "50" at Caridge last week.

Herb Scott and Dick Linder, the PRA point leaders, are co favorites although everyone will be "up" for the double points which are riding on the preliminary races as well as the 50-lapper.

Linder's been the hottest driver at Washington this season winning five of the 11 races including the 59-lap mid-season feature. Scott has won three but the last victory by him was more than two months ago.

Actually, a driver who has yet to take a feature race at Washington this season is rated the top darkhorse. That's Dick Bailey who has been burning up the other tracks but the only thing he's managed to burn up at Arden Downs is Petrovic Special — which blew up last week in the team races.

He's been top man elsewhere on the PRA circuit, though, and will be trying to prove himself to the Washington Raceway fans Tuesday night, 8:30 p. m.

Orioles Sign Wash High Star Catcher

BALTIMORE, (UP)—The Baltimore Orioles today signed James McClusky, 19-year-old catcher from Washington, Pa., to a 1958 contract with their San Antonio farm club.

McClusky hit over .350 in each of his years at Washington High School.

He will report to the San Antonio spring training headquarters at Scottsdale, Ariz., next March.

South Hills Wins Prep World Series

MUNHALL, Pa. (UP)—South Hills, Pa., broke a Butler, Pa., rally in the bottom of the last inning Saturday night to win the Prep League World Series with a 4-3 victory.

All the South Hills runs were unearned as Butler committed seven errors.

Trailing 4-2 in the last inning, Butler scored one run and then loaded the bases, but pinch runner Ed Dible was caught between third and home and Sandy Wishnev flied out to end the game.

Seixas-Savitt In Tennis Final

SOUTH ORANGE, N.J. (UP)—Two former Wimbledon champions, Dick Savitt of South Orange, and Vic Seixas of Philadelphia, meet today for the Eastern Grass Courts tennis championship.

Savitt, who won at Wimbledon in 1951 and then, several months later, dropped out of big - time tennis to devote his attention to the oil business, upset top-seeded Hamilton Richardson in the semifinals Sunday, 3-6, 6-2, 7-5, 4-6, 6-3. Seixas, winner at Wimbledon in 1953 and still a mainstay of the U.S. Davs Cup team, ousted Gil Shea of Los Angeles, 6-4, 6-2, 6-3.

Braves Split National League Race Wide Open; Yanks Jump AL Margin to 5½ Over Chisox

By FRED DOWN

A mere 22 victories in 44 games —a .500-pace—shapes up today as the magic pennant-clinching number for both the Milwaukee Braves and the New York Yankees.

The once-close National League scramble cracked wide open Sunday when the Braves whipped the St. Louis Cardinals, 5-1, for their seventh straight victory, their 12th in 13 games and their 21st in 26 games since July 15. The Yankees, meanwhile, downed the Baltimore Orioles, 7-2, and picked up a half-game when the Chicago White Sox split with the Detroit Tigers.

Those successes enabled both front-runners to open up 5½-game leads with each having 44 games remaining. A .500 pace would enable the Braves to finish with 90 victories and the Yankees with 94. To overtake the Braves the Cardinals would have to play .644 ball, the Brooklyn Dodgers .674, the Cincinnati Redlegs .682 and the Philadelphia Phillies .727. The White Sox would have to close at a .644 pace to wipe out a .500 Yankee closing pace.

Conley Twirls Seven-Hitter

Gene Conley, 6-1 since that key July 15 date, pitched a seven-hitter for his eighth win as the Braves gained the biggest NL lead of the season and the longest since they enjoyed the same margin on July 26, 1956.

Almost every statistic imaginable now supports the theory that the Braves will go on to their first flag since the shift to Milwaukee. Since July 15, they've played at an .808 clip compared to the Redlegs' .577, the Dodgers' .567, the Cardinals' .556 and the collapsing Phillies' .407. In addition, they now hold a season's edge over each of their rivals—7-5 over the Cardinals, 9-7 over the Dodgers, 11-2 over the Redlegs and 10-8 over the Phillies.

The Yankees, pulling out of a momentary slump, slammed out 14 hits behind the six-hit pitching of Johnny Kucks and Bob Grim and now show a steady 7-4 pace for August. The White Sox, who suffered an 8-5 loss before beating the Tigers, 11-2, show no signs of mounting a late drive off their 5-6 pace for this month.

Mathews Hits Homer

Ed Mathews knocked in two runs with a single and his 22nd homer and Johnny Logan smashed a two-run single in a four - run third inning rally as the Braves beat Cardinal ace Sam Jones.

The Pirates dealt the Dodgers a staggering blow with a 4-3, 10-inning and 6-2 sweep, Bill Mazeroski singling home the winning run in the opener and Charlie (Whammy) Douglas scoring his first big league win in the nightcap. Paul Smith sent the first game into extra innings when he homered off relief ace Clem Labine with two out in the ninth.

Rookie Jack Sanford pitched a three-hitter for his 15th win and gave the Phillies a 2-0 decision over Johnny Antonelli after Curt Barclay's three - hitter won the opener for the Giants, 5-0. Cincinnati's scheduled doubleheader with Chicago was rained out.

White Sox Split

Darrell Johnson, subbing for slump - ridden Yogi Berra, had three singles and Bill Skowron homered as the Yankees tagged Ken Lehman with his third defeat.

Walt Dropo drove in four runs with a homer and a single to help the White Sox gain their split after Jim Bunning won his 14th game for the Tigers. Jim Wilson scattered nine hits for the White Sox in the second game.

Gene Stephens drove in the decisive run with an 11th - inning triple to give the Boston Red Sox a 4-3 victory over Washington after the Sox pounded out an 8-5 decision in the opener. Ted Williams had one hit in four trips.

The Kansas City Athletics got two-hit pitching from Ned Garver in their first game and walloped four homers in the nightcap to beat the Cleveland Indians, 7-0 and 9-5. Gus Zernial smashed two homers in the second game as the Indians dipped into sixth place.

Two Birdies on Four Holes Give Mayer 'Tam'

By ED SAINSBURY

CHICAGO (UP) — Dick Mayer played to win for only four holes, but two birdies on those, earned him Tam O'Shanter's World tournament and golf's biggest payday —$50,000 cash.

National Open champion Mayer finished 72 holes in 279, nine under par, with a spurt which overcame a deficit of five strokes to Sam Snead and four to Al Balding before they began the last 18 holes.

"I was on the 15th tee when I figured out that I needed a couple of birdies and they could be beat," he said. "And with those last four holes, it's not probable that you're going to get the birdies."

But Mayer knocked his third shot four feet from the pin on 15 and dropped the putt for one birdie. On the 16th, though trapped on his drive, he blasted six feet from the pin for a par, and on the 17th, he fired his second shot out of the rough nine feet from the flag and sank the putt for the other birdie.

Makes Fast Finish

It was a fast finish by the only consistent player among the leaders on the final day of golf's richest tournament. Mayer, with 211 after 54 holes compared to 206 for Snead, 207 for Balding, 208 for Mike Souchak, 209 for Art Wall, and 210 for Gene Littler and Shelley Mayfield, never went over par on his final round.

Littler toured the course in 71, one under par, while Snead took a 74 and Balding a 73.

It was Mayer's second tournament win this year, the other in the National Open, and the prize lifted him well in front of the field in money winnings. Going into the World, he had been seventh in earnings with $15,835.

Balding and Snead tied for second, each winning $7,500 while George Bayer and Littler tied for fourth each getting $2,750.

Souchak Fifth For 2Gs

Fifth money of $2,000 went to Souchak, with 282, while Bob Rosburg, Dow Finsterwald and Wall shared seventh at 284, each winning $1,800. Others to break par were Arnold Palmer and Jerry Barber at 285, winning $1,500 each, Mayfield at 286 for $1,300, and Bob Harris, Marty Furgol, Ed Oliver, Earl Stewart and Bill Casper at 287 for $1,000 each.

The women pros scrap for $6,000 top prize money ended in a tie between Patty Berg, Chicago, and Fay Crocker, Montevideo, Uruguay, each shooting a final-round 76 for 302, two under par. They will play off to determine the winner today with the loser of the extra round taking second money of $2,000.

Clifford Ann Creed, Opelousas, La., won the women's amateur title with 317, 10 strokes better than Lois Drafke, Chicago, and Don Cherry, Wichita Falls, Tex., took the men's amateur with 296.

Concord Church Group Meeting At McKito Home

The Women's Society of Christian Service of Concord Church met Friday at the home of Florence McKito. Worship was in charge of Henrietta Snyder.

Scripture was read by Annetta Snyder and prayer was offered by the Rev. Anna B. Potter. Readings were presented by Goldie Daumit and Kay Yoder.

The business session was in charge of Mary Lee McBeth. Reports were given by June Cupples, acting secretary, and Annetta Snyder, acting treasurer. The meeting closed with benediction.

Lunch was served by the hostess. Also present was Mattie Smith.

The next meeting will be held Sept. 13 at the home of Annetta Snyder. It will be an important meeting and a full attendance is requested.

Harmony Church Ladies Aid Has Regular Meeting

The regular monthly meeting of the Ladies Aid of Harmony Presbyterian Church was held Thursday with Jessie Kidder as devotional leader.

Prayer was offered by Ruth Clegg after which Kay Boniella gave the secretary's report. The group discussed the remodeling of the church kitchen. Following the meeting, corn and wieners were served.

Others present were Jean Todd, Jean Zasadny, Mary Strothers, Dorothy Skiska, Josephine Russell, Frances Snyder, Violet Ziak and Nicky Fish.

The group will meet tomorrow night for a family dinner at the church. The affair will be a farewell for the Rev. James Morris, who has been serving as pastor. Mr. Morris will return to Chicago, Ill., to continue his studies.

Are Visiting

Mr. and Mrs. Mike Kret and son, Bobby, of Tavares, Fla., are vacationing with Mrs. Kret's father and sister, Robert and Isabelle Johnson, of Pricedale, and the Krets' sons, Micky and Billy, of Belle Vernon. While here, they will also visit with other relatives and friends.

'Corny' Krushchev

BERLIN (UP)—Soviet Communist Leader Nikita Khrushchev recommended corn to East Germans Sunday as "sausage on a stalk." Khrushchev, on a visit to a state-run corn farm near Magdeburg, called corn the "king of the plants." He pointed to nine-foot stalks and said: "That is sausage on the stalk, that is butter, that is beefsteak, that is bacon. Now you undersand why I am such a corn fan."

Rev. Marasco Guest Speaker At Pricedale

The Rev. Joe Marasco was guest speaker at services at Pricedale Union Church yesterday. He serves at the Broad Avenue Christian Church, Belle Vernon. He spoke on "For I Am Not Ashamed of the Gospel of Christ".

The group sang "Love Lifted Me" and "Tell Me the Old, Old Story". The Rev. Mr. Marasco then sang "I Love to Tell the Story". The choir presented "Let Me Not Think the Price Too High". The meeting closed by the congregation singing "Power in the Blood". Mary Worrell was pianist.

The guest speaker for next Sunday's 11 a. m. service will be the Rev. Bob Fergus.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Echart and Gwen Wood visited yesterday with Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Taylor, of Washington, Pa.

Sharon Balko, of Fellsburg, is vacationing through Canada.

Clarence Bush, of Pricedale Church, was a guest speaker yesterday at the Riverview Baptist Church in New Eagle.

Pfc. Roy Weaver spent the weekend with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Leroy Weaver, of Brown St. Roy is stationed with the Marines in Norfolk, Va.

The Climbers Class of Pricedale Union Church will meet tomorrow at the home of Camelia Popp. It will be held outdoors, weather permitting.

Mrs. Rose Ridgeway, of R. D., Belle Vernon, is vacationing with her daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. E. D. Foster, of Silver Springs, Md.

Leopold Has New Hope for Parole

CHICAGO (UP) — Nathan Leopold, a partner in the "crime of the century" slaying of Bobby Frank in 1924, today pinned his hopes for freedom on a parole petition said to contain 16 new items of evidence.

Elmer Gertz, Leopold's attorney said that the plump, graying 52-year-old convict, submitted a petition for rehearing to the Illinois Parole and Pardon Board representative at Stateville Penitentiary Friday.

Gertz said one of the phases of the crime that should be re-examined was the precise nature of the roles played by Leopold and his partner, Richard Loeb, who died in a prison fight in 1936.

Leopold has said in previous applications for freedom that Loeb was the leader in the crime. The new petition said that the trial judge, John R. Caverly, expressed the same view in a conversation with a Roman Catholic nun.

FALLS FOUR MILES — The camera records drama in the air over Dallas, Tex., as pilot John McGuyrt falls four miles in an out-of-control jet plane. He adjusts hix oxygen mask (top) after it was ripped from his face, jerks his head back (center) in the wild spin, and raises his arm (bottom). The gyrations test ended when McGuyrt bailed out.

Khrushchev After Better Standards In Red Countries

BERLIN (UP) — Nikita Khrushchev has used his East German trip to try to coordinate the economy of the Eastern bloc—to try to raise the standard of living as an example to the non-Communist countries.

Throughout his tour he has taken steps to back up his doctrine that Communism is more appealing when there is "butter on the bread." And he has demanded that the Communist bloc surpass Western industrial production.

To achieve this goal, he said, the economic systems of the East bloc must be based on a "sensible distribution of work, cooperation in production and a coordination of economic plans."

He told East German leaders they must raise their production so that it will be an example to anti-Communist West Germans of the advantages of Communism. To do this he promised East bloc aid—a promise, in effect, that the Soviets no longer will loot the East German economy as they did in the Stalin era.

He boasted that the Soviet Union's production now ranked second in the world, only behind the United States. And he said the Soviet Union not only must climb to first place but the Soviet bloc as a whole must out-produce the West as a whole.

Which Will It Be: Free TV Or Toll TV; Battle Rages

(The first of a series of dispatches on the issue of free TV versus toll TV. Today—what is the controversy all about?)

By WILLIAM EWALD

NEW YORK (UP)—Your TV set is the booty at stake in the fiercest struggle in the history of the electronic mousetrap.

The issue: Fee TV versus free TV.

The questions: Are you satisfied with the shows you see now on TV? If not, would you be willing to pay to see programs without commercials? How much would you be willing to pay—as much as 50 cents or a dollar for a good movie or broadway play?

The battle is getting hotter. The networks are very much against toll TV. The backers of pay TV, a highly vocal group, are pressing hard for it. In fact, everyone is getting into the act. Sound-offs have been heard from parties as diverse as Jackie Gleason (yes), Sen. Strom Thurmond (no), the Metropolitan Opera Assn. (yes), craft unions (yes and no), the Brooklyn Dodgers (yes), movie theatre owners (no) and the General Federation of Women's Clubs (lukewarm No).

How Sides Stack Up

In time, you may be forced to pick and choose sides. This is how the sides stack up:

The advocates of free TV say pay TV is a betrayal of the 40 million set owners who bought their machines believing that free entertainment would be provided and advertisers would carry the pay load.

They say commercial TV stuffs you now with such goodies as Perry Como, movies, Garry Moore, athletic events, Lawrence Welk, opera, "Peter Pan" and Cleo the talking basset hound. You get all these free. Why pay?

The advocates of pay TV (also called toll TV, subscription TV, jukebox TV, loot - down-the-chute TV, slot machine TV or turnstile TV, depending upon your point of view) say bosh. They say there is nothing free about free TV—that you help pay for shows every time you shell out for a pack of cigarettes or a bottle of tired blood elixir.

Cite Advertiser Costs

What's more, say toll TV'ers, you would like to see good first run movies and stage shows like "South Pacific," but that advertisers can't afford them. They say some of you would like a fatter diet of opera, ballet, chewy dramas and educational programs, but the economics of broadcasting rule this out.

Toll TV'ers say they can furnish you with this kind of fare right on your own TV set if you're willing to dip into your pocketbook. They say they can do it without commercials. They say you won't lose your regular shows on free TV — that pay TV will supplement them.

Toll TV'ers can bring their product into your home in two ways—by air or by wire. The airwaves are the cheapest way, but the Federal Communications Commission must grant permission to toll TV firms to use the air. The FCC has been dragging its heels on the matter, but there is hope that a decision may be forthcoming on Sept. 17.

Wiring City Expensive

Wiring a city for TV (just as a city is wired for telephone service) is expensive, but no FCC okay is needed—just permission from the city itself. One toll spokesman has estimated it would cost $12 million to wire the city of Los Angeles, a heady investment.

One city in this nation—Bartlesville, Okla. — already is being wired for pay TV. Interestingly enough, a chain of movie theatres is backing the venture. One official connected with the enterprise estimates that some Bartlesville homes will be ready for pay-in-the-parlor TV by early fall. For $9.50, citizens will get a chance to see 30 uninterrupted movies a month.

If the venture is successful, 35 other cities in the Southwest may be wired for toll TV by the same theatre chain.

Toll TV seems to be just around the corner—if not by air, then by wire.

Your town may be the next one to have to make a choice.

Mrs. Eisenhower Is Improving

WASHINGTON (UP)—President Eisenhower drove to Walter Reed Army Medical Center Sunday for a visit with Mrs. Eisenhower.

The White House announced that the First Lady's recovery from her internal operation last Tuesday "continues to be very satisfactory."

The Chief Executive attended services at National Presbyterian Church before going to see the First Lady, who is expected to be able to leave with the President on his vacation in about two weeks.

Eisenhower played host Sunday night to his brother, Milton, who returned from a one week goodwill visit to Mexico. Milton and his daughter, Ruth, stayed overnight at the White House.

In loving memory of Robert Cain who died two years ago on August 11, 1955.
He little thought when leaving home,
He would no more return,
That he is death so soon would sleep,
And leave us here to mourn.
We do not know what pain he bore,
We did not see him die
We only know he passed away,
And never said goodbye.
But God is good, He gave us strength

Work on New Sewage System in Perryopolis

Perryopolis borough is still having trouble with its new sewage system.

Two engineering firms — Michael Baker and Chester Engineers — agreed recently that the system was not ready for use. So Council told the Haddock Construction Co. to return and complete the job.

Engineering consultants have reported that progress is being made toward correcting defects. In particular, manholes are being insulatcd to prevent seepage.

Until the system is okayed, no one may tap into the line.

Next Few Weeks

A council spokesman said the project should be completed in the next few weeks. Workmen are now running tests on the existing lines? to determine if there are any obstructions.

Once the current project is completed, additional water lines will be installed in the borough, it was reported.

Mrs. Paul McKeever and daughter Paula; Mrs. Thomas Sisley and daughter, Sue Ellen, Mrs Glenna Nazzar and son, Sammy; and Miss June Rolison and niece, Cindy Lee, all of Perryopolis, motored to Ligonier last week to visit the Storybook Forest.

The Forest depicts miniature scenes from popular children's stories.

500 Card Club Stages Picnic

Members of the 500 Card Club of Perryopolis held their annual covered dish picnic on Thursday evening at Virgin Run.

Swimming and movies were the diversion.

Attending the picnic were Mr. and Mrs. Paul McKeever and daughter Paula Jean; Mr. and Mrs. Elbert Lowther, Mr. and Mrs Thomas Sisley, Mrs. Muriel Roadman, Mrs. June Bock, Miss June Rolison, of Perryopolis and Mr. and Mrs. Robert Taylor, Miss Nellie Dunham, of Star Junction Miss Dunham was the guest of Mrs. Bock.

Former Perry Resident Honored

Mrs William Jenkins, a former resident of Perryopolis, was honored recently at a dinner party in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Calvin Morris, of Star Junction.

Mrs Jenkins, who lives in Oakridge, Ore., is visiting her mother, Mrs. John Stiffy, of Perryopolis.

Attending the dinner were Mrs. John Stiffy, Mrs. Huston Linderman and daughters, Carey Marie and Iris Elaine, all of Perryopolis; Mrs James Winn and son, Dan, of Clairton.

Eighty persons were in attendance when the Eleanor A. Knox Woman's Club held a family night picnic at the home of Mr. and Mrs. S. E Rolison, in Perryopolis recently. The affair was in the form of a covered dish dinner.

More Reluctant Movie Stars Called In Libel Trial

HOLLYWOOD (UP)—Clark Gable, Ava Gardner and Joan Crawford today were the latest film stars "wanted" for a growing list of more than 100 reluctant celebrities subpenaed to testify about possible embarrassing experiences at the criminal libel trial of Confidential magazine.

Private detective Fred Otash, who has been serving subpenas for the defense, said he planned to serve Gable a summons this week

"We also hold subpenas for Miss Gardner and Miss Crawford but we don't know if he will get a chance to serve them because the two actresses are in Europe at present,' Otash said.

The defense went ahead with plans to drag celebrities into court despite an expected ruling today that could let many of the stars off the hook. Defense attorney Arthur J. Crowley asked Superior Judge Herbert V. Walker Friday to rule on whether statements about stories other than those mentioned by the prosecution would be admissible as evidence.

During the week end orchestra leader Charlie Barnet and singer Herb Jeffries were subpenaed.

Song and dance star Dan Dailey managed to avoid subpena-serving detectives at the Hollywood Bowl Saturday night where he was appearing in a pop concert. Otash said Dailey got guards to block an entrance and slipped away in his car.

Danny Kaye Warns Against Funny Women

By ALINE MOSBY

HOLLYWOOD (UP) — Women who try to be the life of the party by acting like comics shouldn't, says Danny Kaye. He thinks few women can be funny and feminine, too.

Danny sat on a set at MGM where he's working in a movie, "Merry Andrew", his first film in two years, and reflected on the state of the funny folks who happen to be female.

"There aren't many female comedians because — well, how would you like to put on a red wig and a funny nose and make people laugh?" he shrugged. "A woman likes to be thought of first as a woman, as being pretty and feminine. Most women are terribly embarassed if they think they are being made t olook ridiculous."

Uninhibited Clowns

Down the years some women have decided to forget about being composed and graceful and have made their marks as uninhibited clowns, from the great and late Fanny Brice and Bea Lillie to Lucille Ball, Imogene Coca, Jane Kean (of the Kean sisters) and a newcomer who goes in for wonderful rubbery - faced imitations, Sue Carson.

Then there's another group of women who go in for light, sophisticated comedy and still maintain a halo of glamour and beauty while they're taking pies in the face and pratfalls. Kaye thinks Carole Lombard was a queen among those funny - but - glamorous beauties.

Others he picks are Rosalind Russell and Eve Arden. He also names as one of the big new stars of the year Kay Kendall, the English star and wife of Rex Harrison who's the only new sophisticated comedienne to appear in the movies since Miss Russell. Kay's drunk scene in "Les Girls", her first Hollywood movie, ranks her as a master at being funny but feminine.

"There's a borderline of being a clown and still retaining the qualities that makes a woman feminine," Kaye said.

"Actually, the most attractive women I know are not afraid of being laughed at—look at Marilyn Monroe!

"The attitude of men keeps many women from being funny. Certain men find complete inhibition in a woman a little frightening. It destroys the man's picture of himself as being the dominant influence.

"Me—I like funny women, but those who still remain women. When I first met Sylvia (his wife), one of the things that impressed me most was her sense ofcomedy, and how she could be feminine and funny at the same time.

"Most women are too serious, anyway."

New Feminine Vocalist for Big Payoff TV Series

Pretty songstress Judy Lynn has signed a long term contract on the popular quiz program, "The Big Payoff," a regular television feature of the CBS-TV network from Monday through Friday from 3 to 3:30 p. m. EDT.

The talented vocalist made her debut on "The Big Payoff" recently and will be featured regularly with hostess Bess Myerson, and emcee Randy Merriman and "The Big Payoff" models.

Judy was chosen as a result of letters from viewers indicating her as their choice over other singers who have been appearing as guest vocalists on "The Big Payoff." Each girl was given a three-week trial period and Judy happily reports that while she was on the show, she was elected "Miss Football Team of Annapolis," by the future admirals of America.

She brings a wealth of experience to the show including two Broadway appearances, a motion picture and many television roles. She played the leading romantic role opposite Phil Silvers in "Top Banana" on Broadway, in the road company and in the movie. Her television credits include "The Vincent Lopez Show," "Block Party," "Howdy Doody" and "The Robert Alda Show."

A native of Newark, N.J, she is married to Skip Steloff, her childhood sweetheart.

Pidgin English, now considered a language in its own right, was once used by traders in the South Seas.

Your Health—

There's No Need to Grow Old Any More

By H. N. BUNDESEN, M.D.

You may not be as old as you think you are.

As the years pass by, some physiological changes do gradually take place in the human body in all of us.

The skin becomes wrinkled, the body becomes more susceptible to the chronic illnesses that beset the older members of our population.

Our walk becomes slower and there is less spring to the step. Fatigue overtakes us more quickly.

Yet it's probably not time for the old rocking chair yet.

Mentally, and physically, too, you're most likely a lot younger than you think. It's al' in the way you look at it.

A century ago you could expect to live 40 years. That was the average life span. Anyt ing beyond that was borrowed time.

Today the average is almost 70 years. And many, many persons live well beyond that.

For those of you who must retire at the age of 65, because of company policy, let me give you a few tips on how you can remain young at heart and in spirit.

Life can be fascinating or meaningless at any age. It depends upon you. It probably will help a great deal if you keep active.

If you still feel like working, get a part-time job. Everyone can use a little extra income these days.

Broaden your interests. Keep your thinking flexible. Take a bigger part in club and church activities. Get interested in something besides sitting around the house watching television.

If life is really interesting for you, there is always something to live for. It loses its meaning only when you feel lonely and useless.

No one is ever useless. And no one ever need be lonely.

Question and Answer

A.R : Can the sense of smell be lost after a skull fracture?

Answer: Yes, if the portion of the brain controlling this sense is damaged.

The national average for milk production for a cow is about 5,500 pounds annually.

Sophia Loren Dazzles Newsmen without 'Sex'

WASHINGTON (UP)— — Italian movie actress Sophia Loren called a news conference on her arrival here, took one look at the ogling newsmen and said, "Let's not talk about sex."

The curvaceous brunette arrived Sunday to shoot a few scenes for her next film and "to see all of Washington," including President Eisenhower, if possible.

She and her co-star, Cary Grant, promptly defied Washington tradition by scheduling the Sunday news conference.

Even the most naive congressman would think twice before calling a meeting with reporters on a hot, muggy Sunday afternoon. But the conference room of the headquarters of the Motion Picture Assn. was jammed with Sophia and Grant made their appearance. Even White House aide Maxwell Rabb was among the spectators. Some of the newsmen even took notes.

"Let's not talk about sex," the 38-24-38 actress pouted. So, after an awkward silence, she and the newsmen discussed American GI's in Italy in World War II, her own family background, Tokyo, her new movie, "Houseboat," and the beauties of Washington.

Her new picture is about a State Department lawyer, Grant, who marries his maid, Sophia.

Routine Business During NBV School Board Meeting

The North Belle Vernon Board of Education met on Thursday evening in the Bellmar High School library for a routine business session.

President Steve Ruby was in charge with directors Clifford Breakwell, George Boston and Carmine Natalini in attendance. Bellmarette Joint School Supervisin Principal Robert VanBremen als attended.

A communication was read from the Pennsylvania State Education Association concerning the bulletin published by the organization The board subscribed to the journal for the next year.

Mrs. Steve Ruby was recommended to prepare the tax duplicate for the county office and her name was submitted for approval.

A resolution was passed as prepared by John E. Costello, solicitor for the Joint Board. It empowered the president, Ruby, and the secretary, Clifford Breakwell, to act for the entire board in signing official documents at the bid opening meeting, Aug. 20, in Harrisburg. At that time bids will be opened for the additions to Bellmar High School and the Marion Junior High School. Each of the four component boards will be represented at this session. All members of the North Belle Vernon board are planning to attend.

The board made plans to recommend Bruno Zeli for the position of custodian of the North Belle Vernon elementary school. This recommendation will be submitted to the Joint Board.

VanBremen submitted his report on the State School Director's conference he attended in July at Indiana State Teachers College.

The financial report was submitted and approved.

Stages Barbecue

GUILFORD, Vt. (UP)—The population of Guilford, 1,600 strong, turned out Sunday for a mammoth "all-day" barbecue arranged by farmer Warren Franklin to honor the return of his 21-year-old identical twin sons, Alfred and Wilfred, from the Army. Franklin's neighbors bought tickets to the barbecue at $3 each when Franklin was unable to finance by himself a 2,600-pound Holstein steer, 3,000 buns, 3,000 ears of corn, 500 pounds of potato salad, 2,000 bottles of beer and soda pop and "lots of ice cream for the children."
